

Gemini 9 Finally Aloft in Pursuit of Target Satellite

Powerful Titan Rocket Carries Spacemen Toward Rendezvous in Afternoon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 9 astronauts—shattering a 17-day jinx—rode a mighty Titan 2 rocket into orbit today and sped at 17,500 miles an hour toward a rendezvous with a target satellite.

After two heartbreaking scrubs, astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan finally got going on a vital three-day flight that could bring the U.S. its second space triumph of a busy week.

"For the third time, go!" Stafford quipped as he sat in the spacecraft poised for the launch.

Just 31 hours after the Surveyor or moonship landed softly on the lunar surface and sent back dramatic pictures of possible manned landing sites, the Titan propelled Gemini 9 aloft on a vital, three-day rendezvous and space walk mission.

Rose Slowly
The big Titan, with the rays of a bright sun glistening on its sides, rose slowly from its launch pad and sped out over the Atlantic Ocean, followed by a big white tail of vapor.

"We're right down the middle," flight director Eugene Kranz shouted.

"Everything," he told Stafford, "is green and go."

"We're on our way!" Stafford yelled exultantly. "It's fantastic."

Before returning to earth, the astronauts were to perform many of the maneuvers Apollo space men will make on round trip journeys to the moon.

A year and a day after Edward H. White II became the first American to walk in space, Cernan was to climb out of the space ship Saturday and for hours hurtle through the skies as a human satellite.

Target Satellite
A barrel-shaped target satellite—fired into orbit Wednesday before a communications failure forced the second scrub of the Gemini launch—flashed across the Cape as the Titan roared to life.

The 11-foot-long target satellite, a tiny dot in the vastness of space, was entering its 30th revolution of the earth as Stafford and Cernan began their hot pursuit.

They planned to close in on the quarry after a four-hour chase covering 75,000 miles.

Not until they were within eyesight of the satellite would the astronauts know whether a shroud protecting it from the heat and pressures of plastroff fell away when the target separated from its Atlas booster.

If it had not, they would have to cancel plans for a linkup of the two orbiting vehicles, for the shroud covering the docking collar on the satellite. They would, however, be able to practice a series of rendezvous maneuvers.

First Move
Stafford made his first move in the chase just seconds after the Gemini went into orbit. He fired his jet thrusters to adjust the high point of the space ship's orbital path to about 172 miles.

As the rocket rose, capsule communicator Neil A. Armstrong, who commanded the Gemini 8 flight, told the astronauts they were "go for staging."

"Roger, understand we're go," Stafford replied.

When the second stage separated, Stafford saw a fireball behind them. "It's fantastic," he said.

When the 138-foot gantry was pulled away from the spacecraft this morning, and light broke into the capsule, Cernan

murmured, "Oh, boy," Stafford added, "It's a great day."

Third Charm
And it was. Proving that third time is charm, the Titan vaulted off its pad at 9:39 a.m. EDT, riding its blazing trail of hot gases to more than 100 miles out into space.

By the time the space ship settled into orbit, the target satellite had sped 428 miles ahead of them—and the chase was on. It was to terminate high over the western Pacific about 2:30 p.m.

This would be two hours less than the time the Gemini 8 astronauts took in March when

President Seeks Social Security Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today a blanket increase in Social Security benefits for all those on the rolls now and those who will be in the future. He mentioned no specific figures.

Johnson said he has directed Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner to have a program for increased benefits ready for the next session of Congress.

And the President promised the increases would have "a high and major priority."

Johnson's pledge to strive for higher Social Security benefits was made in a speech to delegates to a convention of the National Council of Senior Citizens.

The delegates assembled under a warm noonday sun in the White House Rose Garden.

Johnson told them that while he has signed into law increases of more than $15 billion a year in Social Security benefits, "too many of our older citizens are still struggling along on shoe-string incomes, suffering real hardship and real need."

United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, in a congratulatory telegram to the President, said the U. S. achievement and recent statements by the United States and Russia on the need for a treaty on moon exploration "should give us all renewed faith in our ability to work together towards the establishment of a meaningful peace on our planet."

Like Thursday's series of 144 pictures, those from Surveyor today showed the undamaged spacecraft, the terrain around it and the distant horizon.

Gemini 9 Astronauts Thomas Stafford, already in his spacecraft with the hatch closed, and Eugene Cernan, right, found this poem attached to their capsule at Cape Kennedy, Fla., this morning as they made their third try to get going with their mission. The poem, by Backup Pilots James Lovell Jr. and Edwin Aldrin Jr. reads: "We were kidding before, but not any more. Get your, uh, selves into space, or we'll take your place." The launch was successful. (AP Wirephoto)

U.S. Warplanes Conduct More Raids on North

Fourth Day of Heavy Attacks On Weapons Sites

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Waves of American warplanes pounded North Viet Nam Thursday for the fourth straight day of heavy raids.

The Navy and Air Force attack planes hit once again at Communist anti-aircraft sites—a main target all week—and also at oil depots, storage areas and river traffic.

U.S. military headquarters reported one F105 Thunderchief was shot down over North Viet Nam today. The pilot, Capt. Robert B. Pielin, 34, of Chicago, was plucked out of the sea two miles off Dong Hoi in a daring and dangerous rescue by an Albatross flying boat.

Rescue Plane
The rescue plane landed under heavy fire from Communist artillery and small arms to pick up Pielin within 10 minutes, and he was flown to Da Nang, in South Viet Nam. Bruises were his only injury.

Pielin's plane was the seventh reported lost since Monday, when improved weather permitted resumption of heavy attacks on the North, and the 60th reported downed by the North Vietnamese since American planes began attacking north of the 17th parallel 16 months ago.

Ground action in South Viet Nam continued light as it has all week.

In the largest of scattered small fights, troops of the South Korean Tiger Division reported killing 32 Viet Cong in two brisk engagements Thursday night and this morning.

Operation Crazy Horse
The Korean troops are attached to units of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and Vietnamese units in the combined Operation Crazy Horse. This is a continuing sweep about 20 miles north of An Khe and 270 miles northeast of Saigon and has been going on since May 16. The U.S. command credited the combined force with killing 390 Viet Cong since then and capturing 31, while sustaining light casualties themselves.

American pilots flew 73 missions over North Viet Nam, the third highest number this week and 10 less than the peak number Monday. The number of planes involved was not disclosed, but at least four planes probably were involved in each mission.

Crackdown Broadens
The campaign against dissidents started last November as a crackdown on intellectuals. It has broadened, with Peking's official publications calling it a life and death struggle. They also note that the Hungarian uprising almost 10 years ago started with an intellectual revolt.

The People's Daily acknowledged Wednesday that the campaign was of purge proportions, saying it had swept away "a horde of monsters" entrenched in ideological and cultural positions.

Opposing Positions Held

Legislators Agree to Study Interim Plan for Water Resource Agency

MADISON (AP)—Democrats and Republicans attempting to compromise differences on a water quality control bill clung adamantly to opposing positions today, but agreed to consider a new interim agency plan.

Amid charges of partisan considerations, both sides said they would study a proposal creating a water resource department to function as a separate agency until it can be incorporated in a larger Department of Natural Resources.

The natural resources agency would be the object of a task force study, which would report to the 1967 Legislature.

"I want to make clear we are just talking about a concept," said Assemblyman Norman C. Anderson, D-Madison. "We're not talking about a three-man directorship or any effective date."

Crucial Points
Moments before, Sen. Robert Warren, R-Green Bay, complained of the failure to compromise on crucial points.

"We're not in the position to bargain as we ought to," Warren said. "We're bogged down in the purely partisan political biers."

An hour-long session Thursday night brought the two sides no closer to a settlement. The three Democratic committee members reported their party had voted at a caucus not to retreat from the position it took in the bill.

The biggest contention was over whether to make an agency that would have centralized control of the state water by a three-man commission. The regulatory duties, an independent body or part of an existing state department.

Assembly stood firm in its resolve to make the proposed agency part of the State Department.

Peking Mayor Out In Red Party Purge

TOKYO (AP) — Peng Chen, mayor of Peking and one of the Chinese Communist party's top leadership of the Chinese Communist party, was apparently ousted from his post today.

Another Buddhist Immolates Herself In Da Nang Protest

Shows Continued Opposition to Talks With Government Leaders

SAIGON, South Viet Nam Buddhist sources said this (AP)—A 26-year-old Buddhist nun burned herself to death today in the courtyard of a small pagoda in Da Nang. She was the sixth Buddhist to take her life by fire since Sunday in a wave of antigovernment fanaticism that continues despite appeals by Buddhist leaders to stop it.

Monks said the nun, Thich Nu Dieu Dinh, left behind a letter for President Johnson charging that "Vietnamese Buddhists were annihilated by your policies in Viet Nam."

The suicide indicated the strong opposition among extremist Buddhists to a truce negotiated by Buddhist moderates with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime.

Moderate Resigns
Another development that imperiled that agreement was the resignation today of the moderate head of the Buddhist Institute, Thich (venerable) Tam Chau, the chief Buddhist negotiator with the government.

Apparently acting under pressure from the militants in the unified Buddhist church, Tam Chau said in his letter of resignation, "I have tried to solve the present situation but I have failed." A special council will be convened to decide whether to accept the resignation, but

The Buddhist Institute is the secular arm of the church.

Tam Chau's announcement came as the nation's Buddhists observed the 2,510th birthday of the founder of their faith, Buddha. Calm settled over Saigon after the Buddhist Institute urged its followers to commemorate the anniversary at home with prayers for the dead in the weeks of Buddhist agitation for civilian rule. Troops hauled down roadblocks outside the institute compound.

Terrain, No Surprises

Surveyor Pictures Continue

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — plans for a total of seven Surveyor 1, triumphphant U. S. spacecraft with feet planted firmly on the moon, radioed its second long stream of pictures early today — photos of itself and lunar terrain, containing no surprises.

Some of the second series were out of focus, hurriedly taken to speed the camera on a full-circle sweep of the landing site — the Sea of Storms near the moon's equator.

Others of the series were remarkably detailed, some showing items as small as one-eighth of an inch. Scientists, after studying results of the full-circle sweep, plan later to turn the camera back to snap interesting areas.

Successful Voyage
The 620-pound spacecraft settled gently on its three shock-absorbing legs early Thursday after a spectacularly successful 63-hour voyage over a quarter of a million miles.

Scientists said the accomplishment put the Surveyor program — an effort involving

Oldest Graduate, Politician in Week's News

With the school year drawing to a close across the country, it's to be expected that learning will be in the news. It was, though little of it this week was associated with 'book larnin'. But out of Evanston, Ill., came the story of Mrs. Luean Jack, Waukegan, who enrolled in Northwestern University's evening school division in 1946 and will receive her degree June 11. She started school because she was bored with "women's club work." At 78, majoring in Spanish, she will be the oldest graduate in the history of the school. Her plans — work on a master's degree. Taking a lesson from the wife of Alabama's Mrs. George Wallace, Mrs. Frank Welchel, 41, widow of a former Georgia congressman, decided to toss her political hat in the ring and run for governor in the September Democratic primary. It's a matter of keeping up with the Alabamans.

In War Games
At Fort Campbell, Ky., wives of servicemen took part in war games by living in mock Vietnamese villages during a five-day maneuver. They took over black market operations and acted as Viet Cong agents at villages set up for the tactic.

Now that a soft landing has been made on the moon, the girls will have to suit up for weekends there. Designer Jean Pierre Weinberger came up with a silver plastic overall that might be worn for a weekend jaunt in the year 2000. The suit was inspired by John Glenn's recent visit to Paris.

Shower of Wishes

Luci Johnson and her fiancé, Patrick Nugent, put Milwaukee and Waukegan in the news last weekend. Sunday Nugent's relatives and friends showered Luci with household items and good wishes. Wednesday and Thursday Luci shopped in New York with her mother and sister for trousseau items.

Queen Elizabeth went to the races last weekend, watching from the royal box the 188th running of the Oaks Stakes in Epsom. The favorite, Valoris, won.

Lucille Ball was also in England, working on a sequence for her "Lucy in London" television program, to be scheduled on CBS next season. Hamming it up, she bit into a leg of roast mutton.

Romantic news still flourishes. Among notables who exchanged promises were All American Dick Arrington, guard at the University of Notre Dame who has signed to play with the Boston Patriots. His bride is the former Jacquelyne Ewing of South Bend. Both plan to study for masters degrees at Boston College.

A film pair also signed the dotted lines on a marriage license. They are Tammy Grimes, 32, and Jeremy Slate, 40, who will marry Saturday. The couple met six months ago appearing on a TV show and became engaged two months ago. It will be the second marriage for both.

A Few Moments Before this picture was taken Terri Ann Fisher, Kirkland, Wash., was blissfully swinging back and forth. The minor tragedy was all part of a learning experience, and she healed rapidly under the comforting of her mother. At left, Mrs. Frank Welchel, 41, posed as she announced in Atlanta, Ga., that she would enter the Democratic primary as a candidate for governor of Georgia. Her late husband was a congressman. Below, film stars Tammy Grimes and Jeremy Slate applied for a marriage license. (AP Wirephotos)

Keeper of the snakes in the Reptile House at the Philadelphia Zoological Garden is Mrs. Sarah Cunius, who spends her working hours making sure that hundreds of snakes are comfortable and well. At right, Mrs. Luean Jack, Waukegan, Ill., about to become Northwestern University's oldest graduate, looks up from her homework. At 78, she plans to start work on a master's degree.

Signs of Growing up are evident in the faces of Caroline and John Kennedy Jr. Freckles and braces were shown by Caroline after she and her mother took a second place ribbon in the family class event at the annual horse show and children's fair at New Vernon, N. J. John's age denominator is the loss of a front tooth.

Your Problems

Reader Airs Beefs About Being Born Late in Parents' Lives

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I think it's mighty noble of you to want to buck up the women over 40 when they write and say they are pregnant (and ready to kill themselves) but have you ever stopped to think about how life looks to children who are born to women past 40? I know because I am one.

My father died before I graduated from high school — of old age, of course. I never knew a grandparent. My nieces and nephews are just about my age. (My nephew went to school with me and it was pretty embarrassing to have that little runt call me auntie.)

Please quit telling those old crows how great the "late dividend" can be. One myself. Dear One: Those women don't ask whether or not they should have late babies. They are already pregnant! I try to make them feel good about it. As for you — wouldn't you rather have been born late than never?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was adopted by a wonderful family when I was an infant. Mom and dad are the only parents I have ever known. They did not tell me I was adopted because I was a delicate child and they didn't want to add to my problem. A neighbor woman blurted it out one day and it had a terrible effect on me. Why, oh why, can't people keep their mouths shut?

Now I am going through the same thing again. We have three children and two are adopted. We have never told our adopted children about their history because we didn't want them to feel different from our blood child. Everything was going along fine until last week when we visited relatives in another state. My sister-in-law's children spilled the beans.

Now our adopted children are bitter and resentful. They say we tried to fool them and they are sullen and withdrawn. Please, Ann Landers, tell people that it's up to the parents to tell or not to tell their children if they are adopted. Outsiders should shut up about it. — Salt Lake Mother

Dear Mother: If you had grown up with the knowledge that you were adopted — as you should have — the neighbor's remark would have had no effect on you whatever. If your children had been told at an early age that they were chosen because they were very special and you wanted them very much, they would not feel betrayed now.

People talk — and they especially like to talk about other people. To expect the whole world to keep your secret was a foolish miscalculation. I have said this repeatedly in my column and I'll say it again. Adopted children should be told by their parents as soon as they learn to talk. This information, when offered by an outsider, can produce wounds that never heal.

DEAR ANN: I'm 28 and engaged to marry a fine girl. Problem: I was divorced two years ago. No children. No alimony. No dirt. I want to tell my fiancée's parents before we marry. She says no. She feels they will take it better after we are married. What do you say? R. R.

Dear R. R.: Tell them at once. And don't leave out any details for others to provide — as they inevitably will if you give them the opportunity.

Johnson Ladies Create Stir on New York Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — For the Johnson ladies in New York this was the day that was.

— Luci decided on her trousseau, but wasn't telling who designed it.

— Police, responding to a neighbors' complaint about noise, visited a party attended by the First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson had left by the time police got there.

Much of Thursday was spent in the presidential suite of the Hotel Carlyle, where the First Lady, her daughters and three of Luci's bridesmaids looked over the creations of some of America's top designers.

Among the clothes they picked out were Luci's wedding dress and trousseau for her Aug. 6 marriage to Patrick J. Nugent. But what the clothes looked like and who designed them were secret.

"It's the prerogative of a bride," said Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's press secretary.

Got Ticket
Lynda, 22, was seen in two Fifth Avenue stores but didn't buy anything. She did acquire a green $15 parking ticket, slapped on her car while she and a secret serviceman had lunch at a restaurant.

The party which wound up the day and brought the police was held at the home of Mrs. Albert Lasker on Beekman Place.

Police didn't name the neighbor whose call brought two men in blue at 1:15 a.m. today. 10 minutes after the First Lady had left the party.

The policemen asked Mrs. Lasker to cut down the noise. They then waited outside the house until two windows on the second floor where the dancing was taking place were shut.

The band stopped playing about 1:30 but Lynda didn't leave until 2:20. Asked if she had enjoyed the party, she smiled and nodded her head vigorously.

Luci, 18, missed the party, having returned to Washington. Lynda and her mother fly to Box 161, Old Chelsea Station, Texas today for Lynda's graduation Saturday from the University of Texas.

Picketing Halts Street Project In Appleton

Engineers Union Says Contractor Doesn't Pay Correct Wages

Paving of a strip of N. Ullman Street by a non-union contractor halted today when Local 136 of the Operating Engineers picketed the site.

The work, under terms of a city contract, is being done by a construction firm headed by Leroy Geiger.

A union spokesman alleged some workers were not being paid according to the prevailing rate schedule approved by the State Industrial Commission and in statements filed with the city clerk's office by the Geiger firm.

The contractor could not be reached for comment.

However, the picket line was being honored by other unions, such as drivers.

The shutdown of the project was discussed this morning by Mayor George Buckley, Public Works Director Robert W. Bues and Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), chairman of the council's street-sanitation committee. They were scheduled to go to the site and talk to the disputants this afternoon.

Less than a half a block needs to be paved and the project will be finished, according to Bues.

City officials said they had no advance notice the Operating Engineers were going to picket.

Man Injured When Logs Slip on Truck

The accident occurred in a farm yard at U.S. 10 and County Trunk TT. Paul was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital in Lindy's Westside Ambulance. He reportedly received left leg and hip injuries. Paul remains in the hospital today.

Paul reportedly was attempting to tighten the chain when the accident occurred.

Disenchanted GOP Bloc Spurns Marx as Candidate

Probe Ranks for Man to Support; Heinritz, Frenzl Hint Interest

Thirteen members of the Outagamie County Republican Party, including six county-at-large members, Thursday night spurned the announced GOP candidate for sheriff and scouted their ranks for primary election competition.

Although failing to make a final selection, they did narrow the field.

Two Republicans used the meeting at the Conway Hotel to announce they will not seek the sheriff job. They were C. J. Schink, deputy county coroner, and former Appleton mayor Clarence Mitchell, rumored in the past month as seriously considering becoming a candidate.

Donald Heinritz, former sheriff and undersheriff, said that although he is not yet announcing his candidacy, he is "very interested in the job."

Heinritz and Lt. Jack Frenzl, investigator under Sheriff Cal-Party, including six county-at-large members, Thursday night spurned the announced GOP candidate for sheriff and scouted their ranks for primary election competition.

Heinritz, who was defeated by Spice in the last general election, did not commit himself as a possible candidate. Explaining that he retires as an investigator July 1, Frenzl said he "has made no plans for the future."

The group, professed as being "interested only in getting a Republican sheriff back in office," acted in outward opposition to Undersheriff Norbert Marx as a Republican candidate for sheriff. Marx, an Appleton policeman for 24 years, is the only candidate from either party. Spice, holding the sheriff's post as a Democrat, is serving his second consecutive term and is thus ineligible to seek re-election.

Marx's candidacy several times became the target of criticism Thursday.

Criticizes Marx

Lyman Clark, a former sheriff and "floor leader" at Thursday's session, was critical of Marx, who he said "has no Republican background," for serving as sergeant-at-arms at the Republican state convention in Milwaukee last month.

Heinritz, a meter man for the City of Appleton, said he was "very much upset" when Marx came out on the Republican ticket. Explaining that he (Heinritz) had intended to take out nomination papers, he further criticized Marx for announcing his candidacy before papers could be obtained.

"Since 1932 we didn't have a Democratic sheriff until four years ago when the present sheriff went in on a fluke," Clark said.

Not Rump Session

Several times Clark and others emphasized that Thursday's meeting was not for the purpose of endorsing a Republican candidate for sheriff, but was to find a man to support for election. "This is not a rump session of the Republican party," Clark said.

Said Stanley Gillespie, county board supervisor from Grand Chute and chairman of the Outagamie County Republican party's statutory committee, "We're here as individuals in the interest of getting a Republican in the sheriff's office."

Obviously some of the 13 Republicans wanted to see a candidate selected at the meeting.

Urged Choosing Candidate

Andrew Jimos, county board supervisor from Appleton, displayed nomination papers he had picked up earlier in the day. He suggested that a candidate's name be "put on the papers tonight."

But others were satisfied for the time being to learn only who among them was interested in the sheriff job.

It turned out to be Heinritz for sure, and possibly Frenzl.

Another meeting will be held in about two weeks, at which time a choice probably will be made.

Murel Edinger, chairman of the Outagamie County Republican Party, this morning clarified the "party position" concerning Thursday's proceedings.

"It is a healthy situation when various groups of people seek candidates for an open primary," he said.

"But," he continued, "it is the policy of the county executive committee (of the Republican party) not to support any candidate until after the primary."

Construction in Appleton

City Issues Permits for $314,000 in New Buildings

Appleton's private construction received a boost Thursday with permits issued by the department of inspections for more than $314,000 in new buildings.

Richard Atkins, building inspector, said residential construction has held up well but commercial and industrial building is lagging behind 1965.

Three of the permits were for expanding or constructing new warehouses.

The S. C. Shannon Co. has started an addition to its wholesale warehouse and loading dock at 1726 N. Ballard Road for an estimated $105,000. Ted Utschig is the general contractor.

The addition will be constructed of masonry and steel with the new building consisting of 58,870 square feet. The site is zoned for commercial and light manufacturing purposes.

$90,000 Project

Dougherty Sales, Inc., the Schlitz beer distributor for this area, has embarked on construction of a $90,000 combined office-warehouse building at 911 S. Lyndale Drive in the city's industrial park.

R. Smith Construction Co. is the general contractor for the masonry-type building which will measure 117 to 102 feet; it will be 24 feet high. Located in an area zoned for heavy industry, the structure will contain 14,061 square feet.

The Appleton Coated Paper Co. has launched another in a series of expansion programs with an $85,000 addition to the No. 8 warehouse building at 825 E. Wisconsin Ave. Construction started this week.

The building, being erected by Oscar Boldt Construction Co., combines masonry and steel construction. It will measure 353 by 44 feet and will be 18 feet high.

A new facility for employees—including a lunch room, showers and lockers—is being built by the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. for $20,000 at 1837 W. Second St.

The 42 by 28 building near Appleton Junction will serve railroad workers assigned to the North Western's expanding freight-switching operation on the city's west side.

Facilities Planned for Avenue Sites

Approval was announced today by federal and state banking agencies of two completely new banks which will be built almost opposite each other on W. College Avenue in the Town of Grand Chute.

One, which will be in the H. C. Prange Budget Center complex, will be known as First National Bank West; and the other, to be built on the south side of College Avenue at its intersection with Lillas Drive, will be known as the American State Bank.

Capitalization for the two new banks will be nearly identical, with $350,000 in the American State Bank and $375,000 for the First National Bank West.

Approved Today

Approval of the organization and establishment of the American State Bank was announced in Madison this morning by William E. Noesse, Wisconsin's commissioner of banks.

The announcement of approval for establishment of the First National Bank West was announced in Washington, D. C., by the comptroller of the currency. The announcement said the bank's articles of association were approved with a certificate of organization granted on May 27.

Organizers of First National Bank West are listed as Harold C. Adams, Gordon A. Bubolz, G. E. Hoffman, Walter L. Rugland and William H. Zuehlke Jr. Permanent directors and officers will be elected later.

Organizers of First National Bank West are listed as Harold C. Adams, Gordon A. Bubolz, G. E. Hoffman, Walter L. Rugland and William H. Zuehlke Jr. Permanent directors and officers will be elected later.

The American National Bank organizers are John M. Hayes, Herbert C. Holtz, Bernard A. Pfefferle, Gilbert J. Relien, Raymond A. Saiberlich, Lawrence F. Schreiter, John S. Wells, Walter H. Wiecek and Gus A. Zuehlke, all of whom are affiliated with Valley Bancorporation, an Appleton holding company.

Organizers of First National Bank West have indicated that at some future date they may ask the Federal Reserve Board to approve a request to have the stock of the new bank owned by First National Corp., an Appleton holding company which owns a majority of the stock of First National Bank of Appleton and Valley National Bank, located in Valley Fair Shopping Center.

No date has been set on when the National Bank will begin operations, but it is expected to be built as a part of the Prange Shopping Center complex.

Both Full Service

Construction is expected to begin immediately on American State Bank which will be a 6,000 square foot building on a 320 by 185 foot site purchased recently by Zwack and Peoples. Appleton architects, have designed the stone and glass-wall building which will be put up by Oscar J. Boldt Construction Co. The bank which is opposite Matthews Tire Co., is expected to be opened about Jan. 1, 1967.

Both banks will be full-service banks with drive-in facilities, vaults, night depositories, savings and checking accounts and all types of loans.

YGOP Elects Elton Check

Former Treasurer of Outagamie Group Succeeds John Lorenz

Elton Check, route 3, Appleton, was unanimously elected chairman of the Outagamie County Young Republicans (YGOP) at its annual officer election meeting Thursday at the Conway Motor Hotel.

Check, the outgoing treasurer, has been active in the YGOP for a number of years and was very instrumental in the recent membership drive in which the county group tripled its membership.

Other officers elected were Ralph West, Appleton, vice chairman; Mrs. Leo Martin, Black Creek, treasurer; and Connie Conradt, Shiocton, secretary. Other positions were filled at the business session by appointment were Dr. Frank Lehman, entertainment chairman; Sherry Keating, membership chairman, and Richard Unser, public relations.

Outgoing Chairman John Lorenz, who was lauded for his work the past year, commented on the success and growth of the organization in recent years and expressed hopes for increased membership.

At the end of the business session a movie, "The Republic of Apathy," was shown. It stressed the importance of having the qualified voters get to the polls on election days.

Police Seek Driver Of Car Which Struck, Injured Appleton Girl

Appleton police are seeking the driver of a car that struck a 17-year-old girl in the 200 block of E. College Avenue about 4:15 p.m. Thursday.

Collette Suave, 1207 Nawada Court, received a broken ankle in the accident, according to Appleton police.

The girl told police she was crossing in mid-block when she was struck by a red Plymouth station wagon driven by a man about 40 years old. She said the driver stopped to get her name, but said she did not get the driver's name.

Authorities ask that the driver notify the police station so an accident report can be made.

Lawrence Dean Explains:

Minority of Negroes Has Curbed Racial Explosion

"The only thing that has stopped an explosion of the racial situation thus far has been the numerical minority of Negroes in this country," Dr. Francis Broderick of Lawrence University said Thursday night.

Speaking at a meeting of the Fox Valley Human Rights Council, Broderick, a newly appointed dean, said that "if you are in sympathy with the Negro quest for equality you are being forced to increase your tolerance level" as the movement becomes more violent and dangerous.

In a talk entitled "The Changing Character of the Negro Protest" Broderick said that the current objective of the Negro cause was the attainment of the "full life," the realization of which was being envisaged as possible only through the re-forming of the whole of society, white and Negro alike. Jobs, housing, and education were cited as the specific areas of greatest concern.

Contributing Goals

Although the Negro leadership has defined objectives, Broderick pointed out that Negroes, in general, are not as sophisticated in articulating their goals, and often give vent to their frustrations through the struggles of the National Assodom rioting, as has occurred in the Los Angeles suburb of Watts.

Broderick said the constantly changing nature of the Negro protest must be judged in its historical context, and he enumerated three main stages of the continuing struggle. The first of these periods, occurring at the turn of the 20th century, might be called the "Booker T. Washington era," as it was he who established its dominant mood. Describing Washington as a Negro leader made so by white men, Broderick defined his concern as being primarily in the area of education for his people, with no active concern for voting rights.

So strong was Washington's hold on the movement and so extensive was his influence, Broderick noted, that all major matters affecting the Negro community were "cleared with Booker" whether it was in the area of educational philanthropy or political patronage. His hold on the movement lasted until his death in 1915.

Second Period

The second period described by Broderick was that which ran from 1915 until the 1940s, a period characterized by the struggles of the National Asso-

Animals 'Extremely Thin'

26 Dogs Shot as Authorities Shut Down Tigerton 'Farm'

TIGERTON — Twenty-six dogs covered behind rocks and dogs, most of them females, debris on the farm and were shot Thursday by the frightened by the visitors. The Shawano County Sheriff's De-dogs were extremely thin, she said, but none of them seemed farm, about two miles north of here.

The dogs were destroyed following a visit to the farm she noticed three dogs with Monday by Mrs. Vera Schulz, porcupine quills lodged in their Neenah, of the Animal Welfare League; Carl L. Krueger, un-dog, she said, must have been der-sheriff, and Tigerton Con-ble Clarence Groszkops.

Mrs. Schulz said today that they found 30 to 40 dogs on the farm. Most of them were loose, she said, but a few were chained. There were also three litters of puppies.

Mrs. Schulz reported that the had been in the dog business for years and that trucks used to come by to purchase the dogs but no trucks have stopped recently.

Mrs. Schulz said that Kopp told her he had received $3 for females and $5 for males.

She added that the dogs were probably unmarketable due to their "deplorable condition."

Undersheriff Krueger was quoted as saying "we have been trying to cope with this problem and clean up this place for several years but without the assistance of the Animal Welfare League it never would have been possible."

Krueger said today, "We didn't have the right to go in and get them until the league went through proper channels."

Some of the dogs ran away as sheriff's deputies shot the rest Thursday. Krueger said, "We would like to approach the Welfare Department in Shawano County and dispose of the rest of them," and he added, "We want to give the dogs that ran away about a week to get back before any further action is taken."

Mrs. Schulz said the league and Shawano County authorities debated very thoroughly as to what was the most humane approach to the situation before deciding to dispose of the dogs.

No Trucks Recently

Mrs. Schulz said that Kopp told authorities that the quills would eventually drop out and that it taught the dogs to "stay away from porcupines."

Rep. Ford Sees Cheer Amidst Chaotic Events

OSHKOSH — A cheerfulness in outlook for the future was urged upon Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh graduates today by Rep. Gerald R. Ford, house minority leader.

Ford presented the main address at Jackson Street Athletic Field as more than 400 seniors received bachelor degrees at the school's 92nd commencement exercise.

The Michigan Republican said "I have never been able to agree with those who periodically look about them and say that this is the worst of possible worlds." Despite his attempt to be philosophical and look at the "seemingly chaotic events erupting in the world around us," He noted that "cheerfulness keeps creeping in."

"Poppycock"

"I do not believe, despite the enormity of the problems we face, that they cannot be solved. That there can be neither hope nor confidence is pure poppycock."

Ford told the graduating seniors of "an obligation that is peculiarly and undeniably yours as part of a highly favored segment of our society — the educated."

He warned of pressures which all would face and emphasized that the only way to combat these pressures will be "to question the obvious dogma and proclaimers of it."

Young citizens have three main duties to fulfill, he said, the duties to think, to vote and to act. "A disaster for you and yours" will result if these duties are not fulfilled, he said.

Two dangers were forecast for the graduates, that of "momentary discouragement due to an ardent love affair with the past," and the "radical or militant left, which believes it is the magic wand of the future."

"A government big enough to give us everything we want is big enough to take away everything we have."

Individuality must be strived for, he added, so that citizens of the future will do more than "leave your seat-prints on the sands of time."

Program notes reminded the 423 members of the 1960 graduating class that in four years they have seen the university grow from 3,324 students to 7,133, the organization of five schools, and the change from college to university designation.

Faculty and graduates marched to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," played by the WSU-O Concert Band under the direction of Dr. Thomas E. Neice.

Dr. Roger E. Guiles, university president, gave the charge to graduates and conferred the degrees. The class of 1966 was presented by Dr. Everett G. Pyle, dean of the graduate school; Dr. Robert P. Deat, school of business administration; Dr. David L. Bowman, dean, school of education; and Dr. Sherman E. Gunderson, dean, school of letters and science.

4 Promotions Are Announced At Thilmann

Responsibility Shifts Are Out-Growths of Company Expansion

Four personnel shifts in the marketing division of Thilmann Pulp and Paper Co. have been announced by L. R. Graef, vice president for marketing.

Donald B. Rupp, currently district sales manager, Philadelphia, will be elevated to division sales manager, Kansas City.

Edward H. Schmidt, division sales manager, Kansas City, will be returned to the headquarters office in Kaukauna, assigned to special work in the company's plastics papers product department.

Eugene R. Schuh, route 1, Kaukauna, has been named sales representative assigned to the Cincinnati district sales office.

Stephen J. Den Dooven, 649 Congress St., Neenah, has been transferred to the Kansas City division sales office as sales representative.

All changes are effective June 15.

Orderly Out-Growth

In announcing these changes, the vice president said that these shifts in responsibilities are an orderly out-growth of the company's continued emphasis on market oriented selling concepts introduced into Thilmann's selling activities and are necessary to strengthen the corporate selling arm for current and expected growth.

Rupp, holding a degree from the University of Wisconsin, has been with the company in field sales work since 1956. He first served in the Detroit office and most recently in the Philadelphia office.

Schmidt, starting with Thilmann in 1956 following his graduation from the University of Wisconsin, has held numerous field sales positions and has been division manager, Kansas City, since 1964.

Schuh joined the Kaukauna firm in 1960 and has been serving in the bag sales department. Den Dooven became associated with Thilmann in 1965 following his graduation from the University of Wisconsin. He has been a sales service representative in the protective papers product department.

Madison Firm Hires Mitchell

Ex-Mayor to Work In Sales, Service To Municipalities

Clarence A. Mitchell, mayor of Appleton from 1958-1966, ended speculation over future plans today with announcement he will become associated with a Madison firm.

Mitchell, 312 W. Lindbergh St., said he had accepted employment with Associated Traffic Equipment Co. of Madison, but will still live here.

In his new job, Mitchell will be in public relations, sales and service for a firm which specializes in parking meters, gates, radar units and other municipal equipment. He will have a 15-county territory, taking him as far north as the Marinette-Sturgeon Bay area and south to Milwaukee-Kenosha.

No Intentions

"I have no intention of running for sheriff or any other public office at this time," commented Mitchell, who served in city and county government for 17 years before suffering his first defeat at the polls in April.

Prior to becoming mayor, Mitchell served on the council nine years as First Ward alderman and also as a county supervisor three years.

"I would like to express my appreciation to the many people who supported me in my past campaigns, and also those who encouraged me to run for sheriff," Mitchell said.

Mitchell said he hoped planning for proposed public works projects under his administration would be "expedited and completed as soon as possible for the good of Appleton."

Truck Hits Rail, Splits Huge Pipe

OSHKOSH — An Illinois truck driver is in critical condition this morning after sustaining head injuries when the semi-trailer he was driving crossed the U.S. 41 median north of Lake Butte des Morts Thursday noon, entered the opposite lane of traffic and struck a railing on a highway overpass.

The truck, owned by Logan Trucking, South Beloit, Ill., and driven by Glen A. Swartout, 46, Roscoe, Ill., was of the flat-cab variety and was loaded with six large, concrete sewer pipes.

One of the pipes plunged 25 feet to the road below, smashing pavement on a sidewalk along State 110. Another rammed forward and struck the cab of the truck, causing Swartout's injuries.

Sheriff's department authorities have not been able to talk to Swartout. The northbound truck had entered the northbound lane of traffic after crossing the Butte des Morts Bridge and traveled a couple hundred yards before crossing the median police said.

Swartout was taken to Mercy Hospital by an ambulance. Damage to the truck was estimated at $2,000 in addition to damages to the overhead railing, a road barricade and guard rail and the sidewalk.

The schedule of activities for the Catholic Activities Council summer program, which will run for 10 consecutive weeks, beginning June 13, has been announced by Charles Kunitz, program director.

The winter program will close June 4. In the intervening week equipment will be moved from St. Mary School to Xavier High School, the summer headquarters.

Lightest Trade In Ten Months

Brokers Say Potential Buyers Cling to Sidelines

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels, chemicals and rubbers improved in a mixed stock market early this afternoon.

Trading was very slow. Despite some big blocks, dealings in the first hour were the lightest in 10 months.

Most groups were thoroughly irregular. Brokers reported that many potential buyers were clinging to the sidelines.

Auto stocks were narrowly mixed as production for the week was scheduled to fall to the second-lowest total of 1966 due mainly to plant closings for the Memorial Day holiday and cutback programs.

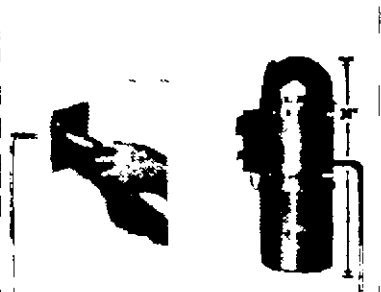

Some wider moves were made by the more volatile and higher-priced issues.

No incentive to aerospace issues seemed to be supplied by the success of the Surveyor moon spacecraft and the apparent success of the Gemini 9.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 2 at 319.2 with industrials unchanged, rails off 4 and utilities off 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.12 at 884.85.

Port Runways Get FAA Okay For Winnebago

WASHINGTON — Construction on runways at the Winnebago County Airport will commence this summer, Rep. John A. Race, D-Fond du Lac predicted today.

In a statement issued by his office, the congressman said that approval of the approximately $1 million federal grant for improvement of the runways so that they may accommodate jets, have gone "one step further" in the past 24 hours.

The county's amended application, to meet prior objections of the Federal Aviation Agency on noise abatement in routing of the jets, was approved Thursday by the FAA area office in Minneapolis.

The application now is filed with the agency's regional office in Kansas City where Race "hopefully" expects it to be approved within a week. It would then go to Washington for funding.

Kampo Starts 3rd Structure Within Year

NEENAH — A huge new warehouse, the third Twin City area building project started by Kampo Warehousing Inc., in the past year, is expected to be completed by July 1 near Harrison Street in the Town of Neenah.

The addition of 60,000 square feet to the firm's storage facilities will cost $300,000, according to Fred T. Kampo, president of the company.

The new structure, 600 feet long by 100 feet wide, will adjoin the present warehouse to the east in the Town of Neenah.

The existing structure, which is of equal size, was put into operation in June, 1965. The Harrison Street location now will contain 120,000 square feet of storage space and the building will stretch almost one-quarter mile east of Harrison.

Footings already have been poured and the steel is scheduled to be erected next Monday. The building will contain 16 foot sidewalls with a height of 24 feet in the center. The general contractor for the work is Immel Construction Co., Green Bay.

Construction for the expansion project started on April 1.

Board President Cites Expanding Knowledge

KAUKAUNA — Dr. George Robert Pendleton, Patrick Mil-Behnke, president of the board of education, warned 297 graduates from Kaukauna High School that they are "going into a world of paradox, full of frustrations" Thursday at the school's commencement exercises.

In an address directed at adults as well as graduates, Behnke reminded parents that there is a great student revolution going on today. He said adults have been very critical of young people and urged that criticism should be given carefully.

Behnke told graduates there are more than 100 times as many things to know in 1966 as there were in 1900.

You are going to be a very integral part of the revolution, he said. The end result we hope will be an improved world. Behnke concluded.

NEENAH — If you're between the ages of 12 and 14, you just got a break, because there was a mistake in price on the tickets printed for the Neenah circus coming June 11.

Price for adults remains $1.50 for advance sales and $1.80 for tickets bought outside the Big Top the day of the circus.

Fire Destroys Kaukauna Area Barn, 13 Calves

Cause of Thursday Blaze Undetermined At Liebergen Farm

KAUKAUNA — Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed a large barn, milkhouse and machine shed at the Ivo Liebergen farm, route 3, Kaukauna, about two miles east of the city on County Trunk ZZ, about 12:30 p.m. Thursday.

Also destroyed in the blaze were 13 calves, a yearling bull, a large supply of oats, straw and hay, a threshing machine, a 1950 model truck, milk bulk tank and other miscellaneous farm machinery.

The fire was noted by a neighbor but had progressed so far that it was impossible to save anything. Liebergen said the entire structure seemed to burst into flames all at once.

Four Hours

Volunteer firemen from Hollandtown spent about four hours at the scene to keep the fire from spreading to the house and other farm buildings. The department had to travel more than six miles on a winding country road to reach the scene. By the time they arrived it was impossible to do more than prevent spread of the flames.

Norbert Fassbender, fire chief, said the blaze seemed to have started in the upper loft of the main barn where grain was stored. No damage estimate was given but Liebergen indicated the loss was completely covered by insurance and an adjuster would arrive sometime today to help tabulate the loss.

This is the third time the family has been struck by fire, according to the owner.

He reported the loss of a barn and equipment in a fire near Freedom about one year ago and last fall while in the farming business with his father.

Negro Protest Explained by Professor

turn to civilian life of Negro servicemen unwilling to go back to their former position of subjugation. A loss of patience and an increase in militancy mark this period, he noted.

Broderick cited the Montgomery bus boycott as the most significant single transitional event during this period; an event which gave birth to the now dominant figure in the struggle for Negro equality, Martin Luther King. Trademark of the current protest is its dependence upon non-violence, a technique espoused by King which has been effective in achieving concrete results, Broderick explained.

According to Broderick, King is a "charismatic spiritual leader," who is looked upon by many Negroes as a genuine folk hero. He said King is likely to be the most prominent leader of the Negro cause for many years to come because of "the many things he has going for him," including impressive appearance, great speaking ability, perceptive mind, and his reputation as a Nobel Peace Prize winner.

Progress Too Slow

Broderick sees the progress toward achieving equality as being far too slow to suit Negro ambitions, and stated that he is not optimistic as he views the tensions created.

In answer to a question as to what could be done locally to advance the cause of human rights, Broderick made two recommendations: first, that Fox Valley residents take a hard look to see what in this community is damaging to human rights right now; and second, that they look to the future to see what problems will arise in the event of what he said is politely referred to as "a period of changing racial balance" in the community.

Broderick recently completed a two-year stint as director of the Peace Corps in Ghana.

A committee composed of Mrs. O. R. Busch, Mrs. William H. Spears and Mrs. Gordon A. Bubolz chose the reproductions.

Shooting of Bonduel Teacher Goes to Jury

John Hodgens Accused of Negligent Use of Firearms in Death of Colleague at Shawano

Post-Crescent News Service

SHAWANO — Summations by the district attorney and the attorney for John W. Hodgens, 25, Bonduel, accused of highly negligent handling of a firearm in the shooting death of a fellow Bonduel school teacher last October, were expected to be completed in Shawano-Menominee County Court Branch 2 today.

The trial, arising from the death of Gerald Kissinger, 21, from two gunshot wounds last Oct. 10 in the Town of Belle Plaine, began Thursday morning and both sides rested their cases Thursday afternoon.

Hodgens Testimony

It has been contended that Hodgens shot Kissinger in the head and shoulder twice with a .22 caliber bolt action rifle equipped with a four-power scope at a distance of 83 feet.

Hodgens took the stand Thursday afternoon and testified that he saw a porcupine, shot twice from the spot in which he was sitting and then walked over and discovered his friend.

He said the shots were neither impulsive nor quick. He said that he had owned the rifle for about 12 years and hunted quite frequently. He testified that what looked like a porcupine had its front feet on a tree like it was going to climb.

Maurice Hershenson, of Madison, an assistant professor of psychology at the University of Wisconsin, specializing in visual perception, was the key defense witness. He gave several demonstrations to the jury, over the objections of the district attorney, in an attempt to illustrate his testimony that Hodgens actually thought he saw a porcupine.

Hershenson said that it is possible for people to see different things in specific circumstances, and that any intelligent human being can see an animal where none exists. This, he said, has no connection with negligence.

He said that when light conditions are not too good, what a man expects to see is what he sees.

Under cross examination Hershenson insisted that Hodgens could have seen a porcupine even though he was in the woods hunting squirrels, because "both are small animals, to me, anyway," and a man in the woods might expect to see any kind of animal.

CCHE Approves Kenosha Site For UW Branch

690 Acre Tract at Petrifying Springs Recommended

BY TIM WYNGAARD

MILWAUKEE — The Petrifying Springs site, in rural Kenosha County, was approved Thursday by the State Coordinating Committee For Higher Education as the location for the University of Wisconsin-Southeast, a branch campus for juniors and seniors.

The action came after a three-hour long hearing on the proposed location, recommended to the CCHE by the Statutory Site Selection Committee. During the course of the public hearing, attended by about 200 area residents, legislators and students, threats of possible legal action were made if the site was approved.

This was reminiscent of an earlier CCHE meeting where it was recommended that UW Northeast be constructed at the Shorewood Golf Course site in Green Bay.

But this meeting was far more orderly than that earlier session. CCHE chairman, former Gov. Walter Kohler Jr., commended the audience and participants for their orderly presentations.

Special Bus Tour

The recommendation followed a special bus tour by CCHE.

golden anniversary reunion on campus this weekend.

In a speech of thanks, Dr. Guies recognized the long service of Dr. Rakog A. Norem and Marie A. Hirsch, who are retiring from the university faculty this spring. For the graduates, Billie Jo Bruhy, Plymouth, class president, spoke of graduate commitment to the future and their preparation for a place in the world of today and tomorrow. Graduates, parents, guests, and friends moved to the campus after commencement ceremonies today for a reception in the Albee Hall-Dempsey are expected to attend a Hall area.

members of eight proposed locations on Wednesday.

Final approval of the Petrifying Springs site must be given by the State Building Commission. The next meeting of that group is scheduled June 13.

Proponents of the location, a 690-acre tract adjacent to the Petrifying Springs Kenosha County Park, hailed its size, aesthetic qualities and proximity to the population centers of Racine and Kenosha. UW President Fred H. Harrington told the CCHE that the full 690 acres were necessary. He said that every single major state university is now short of land for expansion.

Opponents included some Racine residents who claimed the site was so close to the Illinois border that it would better serve students from the neighboring state than some of those living in Southeast Wisconsin. Other criticisms included the displacement of longtime residents as well as an orchard area. Backers of the abandoned Bong Air Force Base to the west and backers of the Petrifying Springs Park also voiced their opposition. The latter admitted they were worried that students might flood the popular recreation area.

Threats of possible legal action came from backers of the Bong Base proposal who said that in the future the population center of the area would be close to their site.

Urges Delay in Action

CCHE member, Harold Konack of Racine, who did not take part in the vote, urged that the group delay action until its July meeting. "The Site Selection Committee had six months to work on this," he said, "and we had it dumped in our laps at this morning."

Later in the meeting, a subcommittee recommended that CCHE state that no field study of the need for a state forestry school was rejected.

"I have not seen one single thing that shows a school of forestry is either necessary or desirable for Wisconsin," Kohler said when the plan was submitted at a plans and policies subcommittee meeting.

Kenneth Crowell, executive vice president of Kimberly-Clark Corp., Neenah, agreed and added, "I'm pretty close to named."

Legislative Provision

The study was required by a provision in legislation authorizing the creation of the third and fourth year branch campuses, graduate level at any state university. The legislation called for exam-

Mayor Buckley Optimistic On Property Purchases

Mayor George Buckley was optimistic Thursday that the city's land negotiation committee may have "a few packages" for council consideration in the near future.

Buckley said a meeting earlier in the week between the committee and representative of the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. on land purchases and exchanges proved fruitful. The city is interested in power company property for public improvements, including land for expansion of the water treatment plant. And the power company needs city-owned property for its expansion plans.

Separate Appraisals
Both parties have secured separate appraisals and are in negotiation as requested by the council.

Buckley said the committee, consisting of himself, David Geenen, city attorney, and Robert W. Bues, works director, will meet with power company officials again next week. The committee, the mayor said, was also arranging a meeting with the owners of three pieces of property required to complete the site for construction of the Soldiers Square parking lot. Buckley said he hoped negotiations could move faster than they have.

Other properties which have been offered for sale to the city are being checked by the committee.

Bright Future for Vike Teams

Athletic Director Bernie Heselton beamed today as he looked over the spring sports record for the Lawrence University athletic teams.

"This has to be one of our best spring sports seasons in history," the veteran Lawrence mentor said as he reviewed the high finishes in conference competition for the tennis, golf and track squads.

Heselton also pointed out the bright prospects for the future as practically all of the spring teams were dominated by underclassmen. Hence, there will be very few seniors graduating.

"Personally, I am very happy at the progress in Lawrence athletics," Heselton offered.

"The efforts of the coaches are being rewarded with the improvement shown, especially after we have been down in spring sports for so long."

Tie for Third

The Lawrence tennis team finished in a tie for third in conference competition, the track team was fourth and the golf team also placed fourth. The baseball squad finished with a 3-5 record against Midwest Conference foes and did not gain a playoff berth.

Heselton himself handled the Viking golfers and singled out underclassmen Larry Newman, junior, and John Schulenburg, sophomore, for their outstanding efforts. He also praised senior and team captain Tom Hedin for his steady play throughout the campaign. Newman was runner-up to the medalist in this spring's Midwest Conference meet.

In track, sophomore Chuck McKee sparked throughout the season and won five firsts in two separate meets. In the conference test, he counted 17 points himself, winning the broad jump and low hurdles while finishing second in the high hurdles and third in the high jump.

The Lawrence tennis team was composed entirely of underclassmen and was paced by sophomore Pat Kenney who lost only once. Kenney finished as runner-up in the singles in the conference. Bolstering the hopes for the future of Lawrence tennis is a standout freshman squad which was unbeaten and scored a 5-2-3-2 victory over the varsity.

Only two seniors will graduate from the Lawrence baseball team and the squad has picked Gary Hietpas, sophomore, as captain for next season.

Chisox Active Roster Devoid Of Stars From Oriole Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Three Sox, was traded to the Houston Astros last Dec. 1 and now is Jerry Smith, of Appleton, Sox bagged a pretty fair Baltimore one of the National League's top traded positions in feature races at the KK Sports Arena.

Ron Hansen, third baseman Chances are Wilhelm will be restored to the Sox active list within a day or two. He may have trouble finding work in first place with Conger second.

Now — for the moment at view of the current splurge of Saturday. Kimberly's Clyde least — there are none fine Sox pitching.

When Ward was placed on the disabled list Wednesday night to undergo surgery for hernia, it left the Sox active roster bare of the former Oriole quartet obtained for shortstop Luis Aparicio and outfielder Al Smith on Jan. 14, 1963.

Only 24 hours before, Hansen was sidelined for the season with discovery he has a ruptured spinal disc and must have surgery.

On Disabled List

Wilhelm, 42, brilliant knuckleball relief artist, has been on the disabled list because of a finger injury suffered in spring training.

Schelfhout Hits First Muni Ace Of the Season

James Schelfhout fashioned Reid Municipal Golf Course's first hole-in-one of the season Thursday on the par-3, 200-yard 11th hole.

Schelfhout, playing in a twosome with Ralph James, used a 3-wood for the shot.

Only 8,650 Turn Out for Yank-Sox Tilt

Drawing Magic of Once-Perennial Champions Gone

CHICAGO (AP) — The New York Yankees are not only playing like a second division baseball team but they're also beginning to draw like one.

For years the Bombers have been the main visiting attraction in Chicago, where they have helped the White Sox hyped their home attendance figures. But all at once the magic is gone for the once perennial champions.

The Yankees managed to score a 5-3 victory over the Sox in a twilight game beginning at 6 p.m. Thursday, but only 8,650 fans turned out.

Hurried attempts to check the figures indicated it was one of the smallest — if not the smallest — crowds the Yankees have drawn in Chicago since the Sox took leave of the second division in 1951.

Of course there were factors involved other than that both clubs are playing below expectations.

The slating time made it a day game technically and, therefore, not part of the night game package which the Sox plug in pre-season sales.

It also meant local television which in the past has not kept down the records when the Sox have televised home night games against the Yankees.

In addition, the twilight start was an experiment which proved initially to be unpopular. Bobby Richardson's three run double capped a four-run Yankee uprising in the fourth inning to wipe out a 3-1 Chicago lead. Steve Hamilton also came through with a splendid job of relief pitching.

Hamilton blanked the Sox on four hits in the final 6-2-3 innings to boost his won-lost record to 3-1.

"We really needed that one after the way we played the night before," said Yankee Manager Ralph Houk, who was talking about Wednesday night's 6-2 loss in which the Yankees committed four errors.

Enough Candidates Without Scranton, Sen. Morton Claims

Former GOP Chairman Not Upset At Governor's Surprise Quitting

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thorton B. Morton expressed belief today Republicans will have plenty of potential presidential candidates in 1968 if the party makes as good a showing as he thinks it will in elections this fall.

Thus Morton, former GOP national chairman who now is the Republican Senate cam-to serve in important national capacities. Even though he has indicated he will not again stand as a candidate for elective office, I am hopeful he will continue to contribute in strengthening the Republican party and in serving the nation."

Pennsylvania's Sen. Hugh Scott, who had been reported in some circles as leaning toward Romney, said he was very sorry Scranton had removed himself from the picture. Scott, like Morton, is a former GOP national chairman.

Scranton's "irrevocable" decision not to "run ever again for any public office under any circumstances" apparently was not much of a surprise to Morton.

"I understood he was not interested in pursuing a political career," said Morton. But the Kentucky senator said that Scranton, who unsuccessfully challenged Barry Goldwater in the final hours of the 1964 nominating campaign, probably would still "be an influence" in choosing the party's candidate.

Red China Moves Toward Relations With Fidel Castro

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China made an open move today to mend its relations with Fidel Castro's Cuba and charged that Moscow is betraying the Cuban people.

An article in the official Peking People's Daily claimed the Russians are not really supporting the Cubans in recent incidents at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo. It said China is Cuba's "most faithful and dependable" friend.

The article came a day after Peking announced that it had renewed its trade and scientific cooperation agreement with Cuba. The New China News Agency said the agreement was signed in Havana a week ago.

The Cuban government had announced earlier that the two countries signed a pact for the exchange of rice and sugar.

White Collar Jobs Needed

Goodly Employment Gain Made by Negroes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says Negroes gained substantial ground in employment the past 10 years, but stand to lose most of it by 1975 unless they win a bigger share of white collar and skilled jobs.

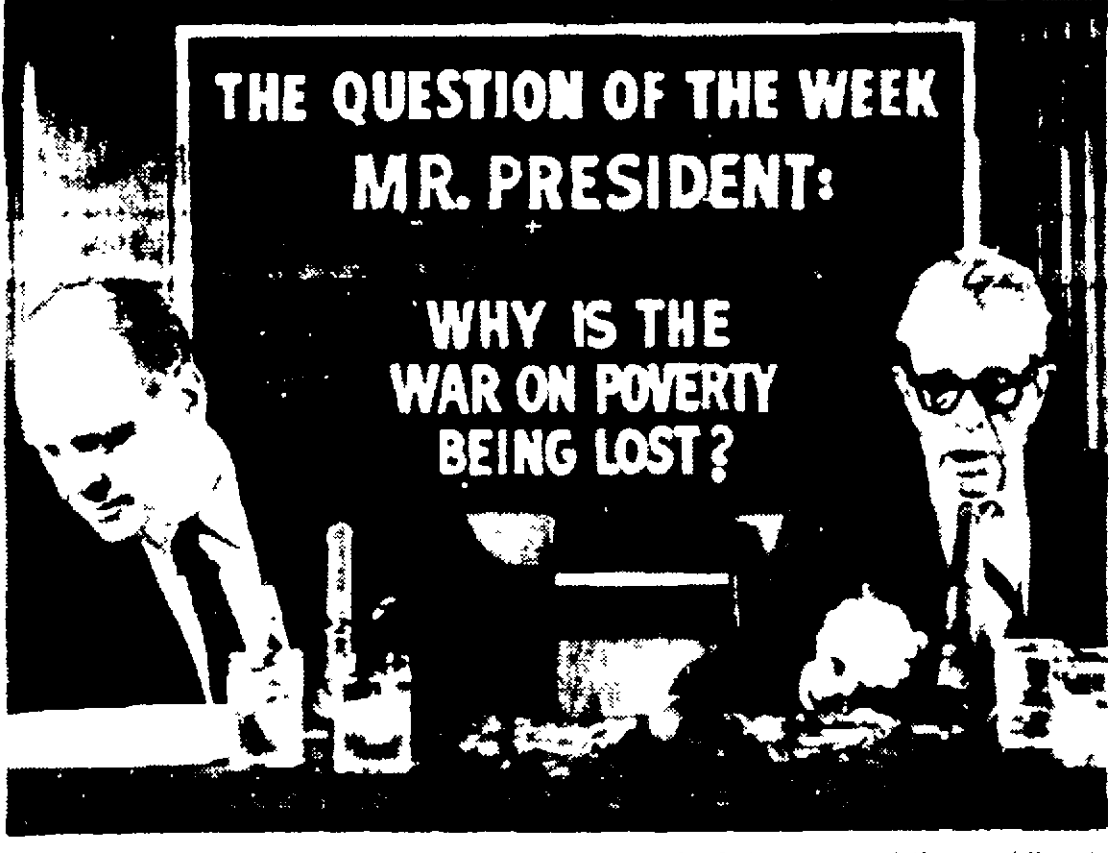

Employment of Negroes and other nonwhites increased from 6.4 million to 7.7 million since 1955 — a much faster rate of growth than for white workers, said a report in the Monthly Labor Review.

This brought the ratio of non white workers to total employment from 10.2 per cent in 1955 to 10.7 per cent in 1965, it said.

Nevertheless, nonwhite workers continue to be disproportionately concentrated in less skilled blue collar and service occupations," said the report by Joe L. Russell of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Job Ratio
If nonwhites continue to hold the same proportion of jobs, their ratio of total employment will slip back to 10.3 per cent by 1975, the report said, and their unemployment rate could be doubled because of the growing population.

Despite the 10-year growth in jobs, unemployment for non whites averaged at least twice the rate for white workers and will be reduced in the future.

Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen and House GOP Leader Gerald Ford, left, came up with this new gimmick—a poster sized "question of the week"—at Thursday's news conference. It is for President Johnson. (AP Wirephoto)

Request Called Unjustified

Additional UW Faculty Pay Given Senate Okay Over Strong Protest

MADISON (AP) — An additional $15 million a year increase in university faculty salaries was approved by the Senate Thursday over protests that the request was unjustified and competitive in the bidding for faculty.

Sen. Leland McParland, D-Cudahy, said the Legislature should refuse to grant additional pay to University of Wisconsin and state university faculty "until we're told how they're spending what we're giving them now."

McParland said the schools had repeatedly ignored requests for a "full accounting" of faculty work schedules. "I want to know how much teaching some of those professors do to get their big salaries, and they won't tell us," the senator said.

Serious Charge
Sen. Casimir Kendziorski, D-Milwaukee, called McParland's statement a "serious charge." He said legislators should support the demand for an accounting and added:

"The senator deserves an answer and we must decide in this fight against a hierarchy who shall prevail, the University of Wisconsin or the Legislature." Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale, defended the request for more pay. He noted that the in-

Railroad Pay Policy Contended

Full Crew Work Law Under Examination Of Constitutionality

MADISON (AP) — Railroad pay policies were a point in contention Thursday as railroads opened a court room campaign designed to have Wisconsin's full crew work law declared unconstitutional.

"If the railroads got talked into paying high wages for little work, it's their own fault," argued Mrs. Beatrice Lampert, an assistant attorney general.

But Circuit Judge Richard Bardwell, hearing the case without a jury, disagreed. He said the wage question was material to the action.

John W. Alsop of Elmhurst, Ill., assistant general manager of the Chicago and North Western Railway, brought up wage policies while testifying in the first day of the hearing.

He said union contracts designate a 100 mile run as a full day's work. "Many of these trips are completed in less than four hours," he said.

Mrs. Lampert in objecting to Alsop's testimony, said wages are not involved in contesting the full crew law.

The attorney general's office and railroad unions are opposing the railroad's bid to have the law declared unconstitutional.

Wisconsin is one of six states that require a fireman to be aboard an engine with the engineer. The fireman's presence is considered an added safety factor.

Railroads maintain the mandatory fireman is just an unnecessary cost and that adequate safety devices are built into engines.

Railroads operating in Wisconsin employ an estimated 700 to 800 firemen.

French Deals With USSR, China Called Only Business

Political Implications Denied in Automotive Airline Associations

PARIS (AP) — Two nationalized French firms have made government subsidy of $8.2 million. Air France's profit outlook for its route to China is bright because it will stop in Athens, Cairo, Karachi, Phnom Penh and possibly Tehran, an official "It's strictly business," said a spokesman of the Foreign Ministry. "Politics had nothing to do with it."

A spokesman for the Ministry of Economic Affairs said the same thing. The deal with the Soviet Union gives Renault, France's largest auto maker, a free hand in revitalizing and expanding Russia's Moskvich auto plant. The one with Red China opens a Paris-Shanghai route for Air France and a Chinese airline.

Both agreements were announced less than three weeks before President Charles De Gaulle leaves on an official visit to the Soviet Union.

East-West Contact
De Gaulle has been campaigning for years for more East-West contacts, economic as well as cultural, as a step toward easing tensions. There has been speculation in the French press that his visit to Moscow may provide the occasion to announce more such contacts.

Air France now flies between Paris and Warsaw and Paris and Moscow on schedules a spokesman said were partly controlled by "diplomatic factors." He said the company wasn't losing money on these routes but refused to give profit figures on them.

Government Subsidy
In 1964, the last year for which figures are available, Air France reported a profit of $576,000 on receipts totaling $355 million. But the receipts included a

Rights Talks Results Unsure

New Confidence, Spirit Gained From Hearing Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the White House conference on civil rights drew to a close, someone asked Roy Wilkins what it all meant.

The slender, graying leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People hesitated. Then he said "Well, let's wait till next fall."

Someone asked Asbury Howard, a stock mineworker from Bessemer, Ala. who says he has bucked the racial system for 40 years, what it all meant.

The middle-aged Negro did not hesitate.

"I don't know what'll come of these resolutions or these good-sounding ideas," he said. "But these people came to Washington they heard the President, and the Vice President, and Philip Randolph and Thurgood Marshall. They heard their words and the tone in which they said them and they'll go home now feeling a confidence and a spirit they've never felt before. Now doesn't that mean something?"

It would be impossible for the most adventurous prophet to predict confidently what will become of the multibillion-dollar recommendations presented the conference by its planning council. Their timetable — to bring the Negro into equality in jobs and schools and the courtroom — runs for many years.

By the most conservative estimates, it demands capital investments of $50 billion annually practically through the next decade.

The Senate defeated a motion by McParland to lay the bill over to a planned November meeting. The House then passed the bill 20-8 and sent it to Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who is expected to sign it.

Rep. Race Lauds Freeman's Butter Purchase Order

FOND DU LAC — An order by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to the Commodity Credit Corp. to purchase butter on the open market was hailed today as "a step in the right direction" by Sixth District Rep. John A. Race, D-Fond du Lac.

Commenting on Freeman's Thursday announcement, Race, in a statement given out by his Washington office, said the action "is indeed gratifying and I commend the secretary for taking the initiative in restoring a degree of stability to the national dairy production trend."

Recently, Race released a statement out of his Washington office in which he was highly critical of Freeman and called on the agriculture secretary to quit his job.

Italian Cabinet Ready to Repeal of Ban on Birth Control Data

ROME (AP) — The Italian Cabinet was reported Thursday to have prepared a law repealing the 35-year-old ban on birth control propaganda.

The change was said to be included in a wide-ranging reform of Italy's public security laws which the Cabinet approved Wednesday. The reform plan must be approved by both houses of Parliament to be effective.

Newspaper reports said a section of the reform law would lift the ban on advertising and advocacy of birth control methods so long as they did not offend good taste or were not done solely for profit.

The present law, dating from the Fascist era, does not prohibit the sale of contraceptives but bans public statements advocating them. Contraceptives can be advertised by brand name but not by function.

Gemini 9, With Astronauts Eugene Cernan and Thomas Stafford aboard, is boosted off the pad atop Titan II rocket from Cape Kennedy today. (AP Wirephoto)

Gemini 9 Finally Aloft in Pursuit of Target Satellite

Powerful Titan Rocket Carries Spacemen Toward Rendezvous in Afternoon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 9 astronauts—shattering a 17-day jink—rode a mighty Titan 2 rocket into orbit today and sped at 17,500 miles an hour toward a rendezvous with a target satellite.

After two heartbreaking scrubs, astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan finally got going on a vital three-day flight that could bring the U.S. its second space triumph of a busy week.

"For the third time, go!" Stafford quipped as he sat in the spacecraft poised for the launch.

Just 31 hours after the Surveyor moonship landed softly on the lunar surface and sent back dramatic pictures of possible manned landing sites, the Titan propelled Gemini 9 aloft on a vital, three-day rendezvous and space walk mission.

Rose Slowly

The big Titan, with the raves of a bright sun glistening on its sides, rose slowly from its launch pad and sped out over the Atlantic Ocean, followed by a big white tail of vapor.

"We're right down the middle," flight director Eugene Kranz shouted.

"Everything," he told Stafford, "is green and go."

"We're on our way," Stafford yelled exultantly. "It's fantastic."

Before returning to earth, the astronauts were to perform many of the maneuvers Apollo space men will make on round-trip journeys to the moon.

A year and a day after Edward H. White II became the first American to walk in space, Cernan was to climb out of the space ship Saturday and for hours hurtle through the skies as a human satellite.

Target Satellite

A barrel-shaped target satellite — fired into orbit Wednesday before a communications failure forced the second scrub of the Gemini launch — flashed across the Cape as the Titan roared to life.

The 11-foot-long target satellite, a tiny dot in the vastness of space, was entering its 30th revolution of the earth as Stafford and Cernan began their hot pursuit.

They planned to close in on the quarry after a four-hour chase covering 75,000 miles.

Not until they were within eyesight of the satellite would the astronauts know whether a shroud protecting it from the heat and pressures of reentry fell away when the target separated from its Atlas booster.

If it had not, they would have to cancel plans for a linkup of the two orbiting vehicles, for the shroud covers the docking collar on the satellite. They would, however, be able to practice a series of rendezvous maneuvers.

First Move

Stafford made his first move in the chase just seconds after the Gemini went into orbit. He fired his jet thrusters to adjust the high point of the space man's orbital path to about 172 miles.

As the rocket rose, capsule communicator Neil A. Armstrong, who commanded the Gemini 8 flight, told the astronauts they were "go for stag-manned landing sites, the Titan propelled Gemini 9 aloft on a vital, three-day rendezvous and space walk mission."

"Roger, understand we're go," Stafford replied.

When the second stage separated, Stafford saw a fireball behind them. "It's fantastic," he said.

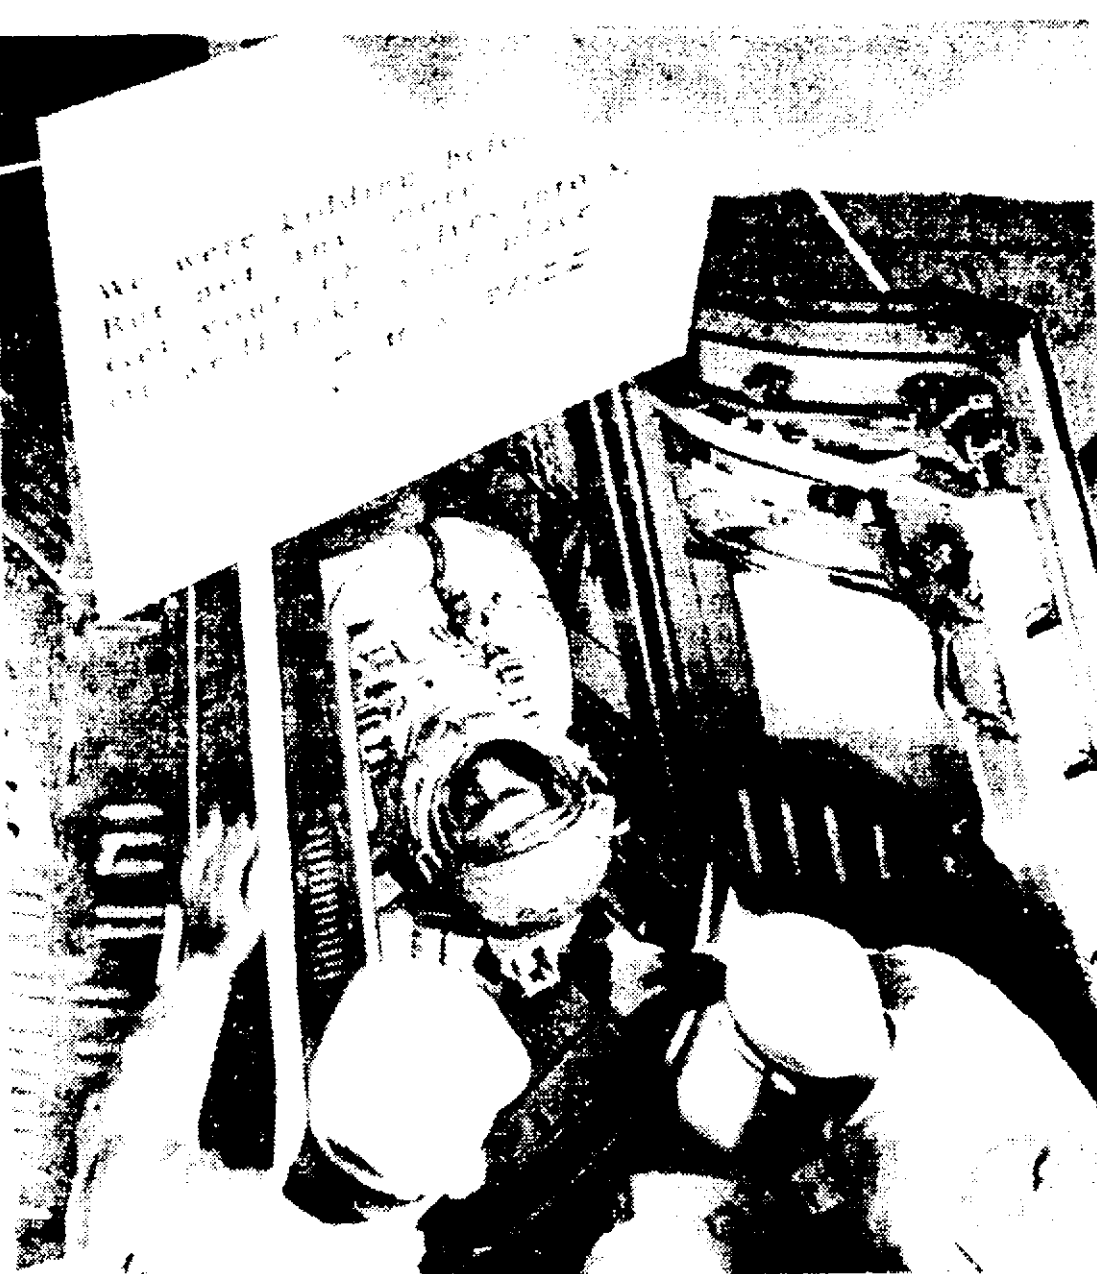

When the 138-foot gantry was pulled away from the spacecraft this morning, and light broke into the capsule, Cernan murmured: "Oh, boy," Stafford added, "It's a great day."

Third Charm

And it was. Proving that third time is charm, the Titan vaulted off its pad at 9:39 a.m. EDT, riding its blazing trail of hot gases to more than 100 miles out into space.

By the time the space ship settled into orbit, the target satellite had sped 428 miles ahead of them and the chase was on. It was to terminate high over the western Pacific about 2:30 p.m.

This would be two hours less than the time the Gemini 8 astronauts took in March when Turn to Page 5, Col. 1

Gemini 9 Astronauts Thomas Stafford, already in his spacecraft with the hatch closed, and Eugene Cernan, right, found this poem attached to their capsule at Cape Kennedy, Fla., this morning as they made their third try to get going with their mission. The poem, by Backup Pilots James Lovell Jr. and Edwin Aldrin Jr. reads: "We were kidding before, but not any more. Get your, uh, selves into space, or we'll take your place." The launch was successful. (AP Wirephoto)

U.S. Warplanes Conduct More Raids on North

Fourth Day of Heavy Attacks On Weapons Sites

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Waves of American warplanes pounded North Viet Nam Thursday for the fourth straight day of heavy raids.

The Navy and Air Force attack planes hit once again at Communist anti-aircraft sites—a main target all week—and also at oil depots, storage areas and river traffic.

U.S. military headquarters reported one F105 Thunderchief was shot down over North Viet Nam today. The pilot, Capt. Robert B. Pielin, 34, of Chicago, was plucked out of the sea two miles off Dong Hoi in a daring and dangerous rescue by an Albatross flying boat.

Rescue Plane

The rescue plane landed under heavy fire from Communist artillery and small arms to pick up Pielin within 10 minutes, and he was flown to Da Nang, in South Viet Nam. Bruises were his only injury.

Pielin's plane was the seventh reported lost since Monday, when improved weather permitted resumption of heavy attacks on the North, and the 60th reported downed by the North Vietnamese since American planes began attacking north of the 17th parallel 16 months ago.

Ground action in South Viet Nam continued light as it has all week.

In the largest of scattered small fights, troops of the South Korean Tiger Division reported killing 32 Viet Cong in two brisk engagements Thursday night and this morning.

Operation Crazy Horse

The Korean troops are attached to units of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and Vietnamese units in the combined Operation Crazy Horse. This is a continuing sweep about 20 miles north of An Khe and 270 miles northeast of Saigon and has been going on since May 16.

The U.S. command credited the combined force with killing 390 Viet Cong since then and capturing 31, while sustaining light casualties themselves.

American pilots flew 73 missions over North Viet Nam, the third highest number this week and 10 less than the peak number Monday. The number of planes involved was not disclosed, but at least four planes probably were involved in each mission.

Valley to Get More Showers

Fox Cities — Variable cloudiness and continued mild with late afternoon or evening showers and thundershowers tonight and Saturday. Low tonight, near 58 degrees. High Saturday, near 80. Light southwesterly winds.

Appleton — Observations at 10 a.m. today for preceding 25 hours. High temperature, 79. Low, 59. Wind out of the west-southwest at 15 miles per hour. Barometric pressure, 30.00 and steady. Relative humidity, 64. Dew point, 58. Skies, partly cloudy. Precipitation, .22 inches of rain.

Five-day forecast — Temperatures Saturday through Wednesday expected to average 4 degrees below normal north and near normal south. Cooler over the weekend warmed by midweek. Precipitation totaling one-half to one inch in showers over the weekend and again about Wednesday.

Sun sets at 8:31 p.m., rises Saturday at 5:11 a.m. Moon rises tonight at 9:24 p.m. Pluto, the most distant planet, now begins to move eastward among the stars in the constellation Leo. Pluto completes one revolution around the sun in 248 years, and has been in Leo since 1954.

Shows Continued Opposition to Talks With Government Leaders

SAIGON, South Viet Nam Buddhist sources said this (AP)—A 26-year-old Buddhist nun burned herself to death today in the courtyard of a small pagoda in Da Nang. She was the sixth Buddhist to take her life by fire since Sunday in a wave of antigovernment fanaticism that continues despite appeals by Buddhist leaders to stop it.

Monks said the nun, Thich Nu Dieu Dinh, left behind a letter for President Johnson charging that "Vietnamese Buddhists were annihilated by your policies in Viet Nam."

The suicide indicated the strong opposition among extremist Buddhists to a truce negotiated by Buddhist moderates with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime.

Moderate Resigns

Another development that imperiled that agreement was the resignation today of the moderate head of the Buddhist Institute, Thich (venerable) Tam Chau, the chief Buddhist negotiator with the government.

Apparently acting under pressure from the militants in the unified Buddhist church, Tam Chau said in his letter of resignation "I have tried to solve the present situation but I have failed." A special council will be convoked to decide whether to accept the resignation, but

Orderly Crowd

The nun committed suicide on the grounds of the Hai Lac pagoda, a small Buddhist center two blocks from Da Nang's central square.

Terrain, No Surprises

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — plans for a total of seven Surveyor 1, triumphantly U.S. spacecraft with feet planted firmly on the moon, radioed its second long stream of pictures early today — photos of itself and lunar terrain, containing no surprises.

Some of the second series were out of focus, hurriedly taken to speed the camera on a full-circle sweep of the landing site — the Sea of Storms near the moon's equator.

Others of the series were remarkably detailed, some showing items as small as one-eighth of an inch. Scientists, after studying results of the full-circle sweep, plan later to turn the camera back to snap interesting areas.

Successful Voyage

The 620-pound spacecraft settled gently on its three shock-absorbing legs early Thursday after a spectacularly successful 63-hour voyage over a quarter of a million miles.

Scientists said the accomplishment put the Surveyor program — an effort involving

President Seeks Social Security Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today a blanket increase in Social Security benefits for all those on the rolls now and those who will be in the future. He mentioned no specific figures.

Johnson said he has directed Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner to have a program for increased benefits ready for the next session of Congress.

And the President promised the increases would have "a high and major priority."

Johnson's pledge to strive for the higher Social Security benefits was made in a speech to delegates to a convention of the National Council of Senior Citizens under a warm noonday sun in the White House Rose Garden.

Johnson told them that while he has signed into law increases of more than $1.5 billion a year in Social Security benefits, "too many of our older citizens are still struggling along on shoe-string incomes, suffering real hardship and real need."

As the rocket rose, capsule communicator Neil A. Armstrong, who commanded the Gemini 8 flight, told the astronauts they were "go for stag-manned landing sites, the Titan propelled Gemini 9 aloft on a vital, three-day rendezvous and space walk mission."

"Roger, understand we're go," Stafford replied.

When the second stage separated, Stafford saw a fireball behind them. "It's fantastic," he said.

Legislators Agree to Study Interim Plan for Water Resource Agency

MADISON (AP) — Democrats and Republicans attempting to compromise differences on a water quality control bill clung adamantly to opposing positions today, but agreed to consider a new interim agency plan.

Amid charges of partisan considerations, both sides said they would study a proposal creating a water resource department to function as a separate agency until it can be incorporated in a larger Department of Natural Resources.

The natural resources agency would be the object of a task force study, which would report to the 1967 Legislature.

"I want to make clear we are just talking about a concept," said Assemblyman Norman C. Anderson, D-Madison. "We're not talking about a three-man directorship or any effective date."

Crucial Points

Moments before, Sen. Robert Warren, R - Green Bay, complained of the failure to compromise on crucial points.

"We're not in the position to bargain as we ought to," Warren said. "We're bogged down in the purely partisan political bloop."

An hour-long session Thursday night brought the two sides no closer to a settlement. The three Democratic committee members reported their party had voted at a caucus not to retreat from the position it took in the bill.

The biggest contention was over whether to make an agency that would have central

Senate Votes to Double Wisconsin Student Loan Fund

MADISON (AP)—A 32-0 vote in the Senate completed legislative action today on a bill that would double Wisconsin's $10 million student loan fund.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles is expected to sign the measure, which also calls for a transfer of the loan program's administration to the State Commission on Higher Educational Aids. The Public Welfare Department now handles the program.

The legislation authorized the State Investment Board to allot an additional $10 million to the fund.

Peking Mayor Out In Red Party Purge

TOKYO (AP) — Peng Chen, vied with three men charged with the overthrow of the Chinese Communist party's top leadership of the Chinese Communist party, was apparently ousted from his post today.

These three, whom Peking repeatedly has accused of being traitors, are Wu Han, the vice mayor of Peking; Liao Mo-sha, a member of the Peking party's central committee, and Teng Chinese language broadcast announced the appointment of Li People's Daily.

Crackdown Broadens

The campaign against dissidents started last November as a crackdown on intellectuals. It has broadened, with Peking's official publications calling it a life and death struggle. They also note that the Hungarian uprising almost 10 years ago started with an intellectual revolt.

The People's Daily acknowledged Wednesday that the campaign was of purge proportions, saying it had swept away "a horde of monsters" entrenched in ideological and cultural positions.

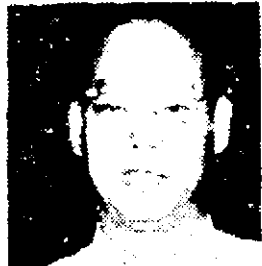

Another People's Daily editorial Thursday struck a note of concern and urgency and admitted that "bourgeois ideology is still very powerful and exerts an immense influence in our country."

Mao Bauner

It urged Chinese Communists to rally under the great banner of Mao Tze-tung's thought and wage resolute and relentless struggles against the anti-party and antisocialist bourgeois representatives.

The editorial said that victory in the struggle could not be taken for granted.

Peng Chen, now 67, reportedly ranked ninth among Red China's leaders and once was regarded as a possible successor to Mao Tze-tung. He has not been openly accused, but there have been hints that he was in-trying to convince someone.

Directors named at a meeting here Tuesday were Lawrence Dahl, route 2, Tiberton; John Van Bostel, route 1, Oneida; Peter Bethke, route 1, Greenleaf; Donald Berkhahn, route 1, Gresham; Ed Kriewaldt, route 1, Clintonville; Robert Matz, route 2, New London, and Bernard Mervodem, route 1, Elandt. The group's objective is to get the proposed new East-Central Dairyman's Cooperative out of the planning stages.

A large group of dairymen from a 14-county area attended the meeting and made pledges of milk production and financial support.

Most Modern Matz, one of the planners, who has laid the groundwork for the cooperative, said, "the pledges of milk and financial backing would make this one of the largest dairy operations in this area as well as one of the most modern in the nation."

The architectural firm of Louis King Scott and Associates, Madison, has expressed interest in drawing plans for the plant, members were told.

The board of directors are to look for a suitable location, investigate financial arrangements and to meet with the state officials in an attempt to get the plant constructed.

Dahl, president of the board, said, "East Central would become a member of Nation Wide Milk Products, Inc. The formation of a new cooperative in this area will give farmers an opportunity to place their milk production in a plant which will use their combined bargaining strength to secure fair prices for milk."

Most Beneficial Early this year members of the NFO began looking into the possibility of joining a cooperative or forming a new plant which would be most beneficial to them.

Nation Wide Milk Products, a common marketing agency serving all dairy cooperatives and small independent plants, has been cited as being the organization most likely to meet these requirements.

Matz, 8th District NFO president, first brought the matter to light at the group's annual meeting in April. Since then a number of meetings have been held regarding the matter.

A site near Angelica, in southeastern Shawano County, had been suggested earlier, but since has been dropped.

Matz explained that while NFO members are supporting the formation of the new cooperative it is not an NFO development.

A meeting is scheduled soon to report on progress of the board of directors and to decide on what further steps are to be taken.

Upper House Backs Strong Labor Drive

Veto Is Overridden On Public Employee Agency Shop Bill

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — A determined power drive of the growing public employee labor organization movement in Wisconsin was defeated by a narrow vote in the Republican controlled State Senate Tuesday as the Legislature's upper house supported Gov. Warren Knowles' veto of a public employee "agency shop" bill.

There were also predictions that the incident will be involved in the forthcoming fight for the governorship, for the union lobby made it clear in repeated tests that it has a majority of the legislature behind it. Its defeat resulted from the fact that a two-thirds vote, in both houses is required to overturn a governor's veto. The union gathered the required majority in the assembly, but missed by only two votes in the senate.

The measure that would have permitted agreements between local governments and unions to require public employees to pay fees to unions even if they did not choose to become voting members of such organizations was the culminating goal of the unions' lobby in the capitol that has become more intensive in each recent session.

Supporters of the bill claimed that the right to force contributions from unwilling public employees is a logical extension of laws now providing for such agreements in private employment.

But opponents replied with equal vigor that the idea of forcing contributions from public employees who do not wish to join a union on their own accord would violate the rights of minorities and repudiate the idea of the civil service laws and ordinances which intend public service recruitment exclusively on the basis of merit.

Gov. Knowles, evidently recognizing that his defeat on the question would be the most conspicuous legislative repudiation of his term, reportedly appealed directly to Republican senators to support his veto.

But the local employee unions are reputed to be among the most active and effective in the labor movement, and obviously impressed some legislators with their election day power. Among the regular Republicans who normally can be depended upon by Knowles who abandoned him on the agency shop vote were several veterans whose terms are expiring and intend to run for re-election in the fall.

Disenchanted GOP Bloc Spurns Marx as Candidate

Probe Ranks for Man to Support; Heinritz, Frenzl Hint Interest

Thirteen members of the Outagamie County Republican Party, including six county board members, Thursday night spurned the announced GOP candidate for sheriff and scouted their ranks for primary election competition.

Although failing to make a final selection, they did narrow the field.

Two Republicans used the meeting at the Conway Hotel to announce they will not seek the sheriff job. They were C. J. Schink, deputy county coroner, and former Appleton mayor Clarence Mitchell, rumored in the past month as seriously considering becoming a candidate.

Donald Heinritz, former sheriff and undersheriff, said that although he is not yet announcing his candidacy, he is "very interested in the job."

Heinritz and Lt. Jack Frenzl, investigator under Sheriff Calvin Spice, were alone in indicating they might seek nomination.

Doesn't Commit Himself Frenzl, who was defeated by Spice in the last general election, did not commit himself as a possible candidate. Explaining that he retires as an investigator July 1, Frenzl said he "has made no plans for the future."

"I'm still in the frying pan," he said when asked if he would run if drafted.

The group, professed as being "interested only in getting a Republican sheriff back in office," acted in outward opposition to Undersheriff Norbert Marx as a Republican candidate for sheriff. Marx, an Appleton policeman for 24 years, is the only candidate from either party. Spice, holding the sheriff's post as a Democrat, is serving his second consecutive term and is thus ineligible to seek reelection.

Marx's candidacy several times became the target of criticism Thursday.

Criticizes Marx Lyman Clark, a former sheriff and "floor leader" at Thursday's session, was critical of Marx, who he said "has no Republican background," for serving as sergeant-at-arms at the Milwaukee state convention in Milwaukee last month.

Heinritz, a meter man for the City of Appleton, said he was "very much upset" when Marx criticized Marx.

Dean Admonishes Class of '66 To Accept Great Responsibility

CLINTONVILLE — "Since that each one must be prepared society so badly needs now and young people will form a majority of the population in a few years, great responsibility lies with each one of you," Clintonville High School graduates were told Thursday night during the 86th commencement.

He said that one must be aware of his obligations as a citizen. # Bleak Baku Center Of Soviet Oil Fields

AP Special Report
By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

BAKU, Soviet Azerbaijan (AP) — A thin film of oil covers the Caspian Sea offshore from the carefully irrigated shade trees of Baku.

Oil production from an ugly landscape, a bleakness that requires artificial efforts to grow trees, and a number of other signs mark this large Soviet city as more Middle Eastern than Russian.

Grape vines have been trained up the sides of apartment buildings to spread their leaves over balconies as high as the fourth floor and provide sweet grapes for convenient eating.

Lower, older buildings have the sun-bleached look of parts of Beirut or Karachi. The baggy trousers and dark shirts of traditional Moslem clothing mix with a more vaguely international modern style.

Plant Trees

Oil under the desert-like steppes around Baku and more oil out under the Caspian Sea have provided the money for workers and for planting and watering trees to break the bleakness.

Most of the money goes directly to the Soviet government, however. There are no wealthy oil men here, no signs of the great wealth underground. People here get little direct benefit from the oil.

Oil has made Baku the fourth largest city in the Soviet Union. Its population of 1,164,000 ranks after Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev.

On the southwestern shore of the Caspian Sea, 105 miles from Iran, Baku was a walled fortress town in the 12th century when Moscow was still an unnoticed forest village. The Russians conquered it in 1806.

The name means windy place. The Russians found a dust-swept Moslem town oriented toward Persia and Mecca.

Baku is the capital of the Azerbaijan region whose people speak a form of the Turkish language. "Azerbaijan" comes from a word meaning fiery. Gases burned from fissures in the ground and oil bubbled in strange pools mentioned by the beginning of commercial oil exploitation in the 19th century brought foreigners to develop the Baku region. At the turn of the century, it was producing more oil than any other area on earth.

New buildings were erected within the old walls and others spread around the curving bay. The boom turned the city into a predominantly Russian population of imported laborers.

Sheltered Stalin

Baku developed one of the toughest bunches of criminals of the age. The Baku underworld sheltered Joseph V. Stalin and other Communist conspirators whose own activities often resembled those of their hosts as they sought any means of financing revolution.

Azerbaijan was briefly independent after Tsarist power was ended by the Bolsheviks' revolution. Soviet troops crushed the Republic in 1920 and Baku became an important source of wealth for building the Communist regime.

Today other Soviet oil fields have eclipsed Baku in volume of production. But this city remains the center of Soviet oil research and the manufacture of oil industry equipment, some of it the best in the world, sold abroad.

How to Stop Shocks From Nylon Carpeting

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: We've been connected to the ground. That's when you get the shock and a small spark.

Medically it is harmless, but it is startling and annoying.

What is needed is some way for these static electricity exist charges to leak off gradually instead of building up. You've seen gasoline trucks with a piece of chain or metal ribbon dragging on the ground. This is to let such charges leak off to the ground instead of building the footwear. You may have up to make a spark that might ignite the truck's cargo of gas.

For years now, operating rooms in hospitals have been on the feet to let the static equipped with "conductive" floor, that is, floors which will carry electric charges off to the ground and prevent sparks.

(Some anesthetics are highly flammable.) Nurses and doctors are instructed to never wear nylon slips or underwear, plaster, open a window (metal frames) or dial the phone with friction can build up static without a shock.

This has become such a problem that we are ready to give up the carpeting. Can you help? -- Mrs. C. T.

Dr. Molner

our family, except one, experience these shocks. We can't turn on a light, touch the wall, which has metal laths under the plaster, open a window (metal frames) or dial the phone without a shock.

This has become such a problem that we are ready to give up the carpeting. Can you help? -- Mrs. C. T.

It's not strictly a medical question, but what happens is this: Friction between two dry, insulated surfaces (in this case your shoes and the carpet) builds up charges of static electricity. At the first opportunity these charges will escape carpets in the ground — and the metal in your house or apartment is erected that this spray is still Foot Pains," enclosing a long, completely unknown in some carpeting stores, and that some cleaners don't seem to know about it, either. One simple temporary spray I have found effective is a weak solution of a household detergent in water. Applied as a fine spray to the carpet, this is effective for several days.

You may have to do some hunting, depending on where you live, but the process does have no list of places to search for it yourself.

Oh, you may wonder why one member of the family doesn't get the shocks. The answer probably is in the footwear. You may have noticed that when you walk on a barefoot, you don't get these shocks. There's enough moisture in the feet to let the static drain off. Footwear which, for floors, that is, floors which will carry electric charges off to the ground and prevent sparks must weather there is less trouble.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can excess calcium make a child sweat? -- M.E.W.

No.

NOTE TO Mrs. G.H.B.: Pernicious anemia results from lack of an "intrinsic factor" in the digestive tract. Giving vitamin B 12 periodically makes up for this. However, we do not know what causes this lack of the "intrinsic factor."

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper and 20 cents in coin to per for a copy of the booklet, cover cost of printing and handling.

Fire From Stove Burner Damages Kitchen Wall

A kitchen was damaged by fire Thursday after a burner was left on under a kettle on the stove.

Four units of the Appleton Fire Department were sent at 9:29 a.m. to the home of Mrs. Alice Myhill, 1421 N. Bennett St. The home is owned by Donald Wendt, 203 S. Long Court.

Firemen, who remained at the scene about a half hour, said the ceiling and wall above the stove were charred as was the floor. An electric cord and curtains also were damaged by flames.

Firemen extinguished a rubbish fire in a garage at the Fred Rasmussen home, 803 N. Morrison St., at 12:55 p.m. Wednesday.

Matches were found in the garage, leading authorities to believe the blaze was started by children. Damage was minor.

The Future of French Troops in Germany

Tied in with the larger question of the future of NATO after President de Gaulle disengages French forces from the combined command is a side issue which is of great direct interest today to France and West Germany. That is the question of what will happen to French forces which have been stationed in Germany since the end of World War II.

President de Gaulle and German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard have been sparring over this one like two Cassius Clays in the same ring.

Please state clearly if you wish French forces to remain in Germany. The French government said in a note to Bonn De Gaulle was attempting to put Erhard on a spot knowing that it would be difficult politically for Erhard to say "No we don't need them" and knowing also that if he said yes unequivocally it meant accepting all De Gaulle's other conditions.

But Erhard was equal to the maneuver. He replied "Of course we wish French forces to stay—it is only a question of arrangements."

French forces are stationed in Germany along with those of Britain and the U.S. under authority of the armistice agreement ending the war. And it is important to France's status as a victor in that war to maintain them there. But until now they have been under the command of NATO, and thus De Gaulle does not like.

French forces in Germany have been assigned missions by the NATO command. And in any alert or emergency they take up prearranged battle stations as ordered by NATO. In De Gaulle's opinion this could possibly involve France in another war should Germany be attacked and without prior approval of the French government.

De Gaulle will allow French troops to remain in Germany but only if they are there strictly as French forces and subject only to direction of the French command.

It is rather obvious that Britain and the U.S. and the other NATO nations would be under great difficulty to approve such an arrangement. In effect the British and American forces would have to assume all of the responsibility for defending Germany since they couldn't count on French support. And West Germany is as anxious to maintain its relations with Britain and the U.S. as it is with France, possibly more so.

In fact Erhard has told De Gaulle that he cannot make any unilateral decisions on this question that France will have to work out its future role in Germany with NATO.

There is growing evidence in Europe that France's partners in NATO and in the Common Market are becoming more and more willing to let De Gaulle go it alone. But where France is going no one including De Gaulle seems to be able to predict very clearly.

Education Without Fantasy

During the last year in Fort Lauderdale, Florida there was a series of strange burglaries. Chemicals were stolen, some liquor, electrical equipment, radios, reference books. Coin machines were raided and master keys duplicated. The participants appear to have been a handful of teenage boys with high intelligence quotients and from middle class to wealthy families.

Ironically several of the boys used the stolen chemicals for experiments to qualify for extensive college scholarships. They stole dynamite but merely carried it around for a few weeks and then gave it away. There was little if any violence although a few minor acts of vandalism. Some of the exploits were done merely to accomplish something daring such as finding a way to break into an empty house, steal a piece of stationery to prove they were there and then leave without giving evidence of entry. In fact it well may be that all the episodes were simply to prove something to themselves and to others in the bragging that eventually developed.

The boys sometimes called themselves "The Brain Trust Gang" and said they were the intellectual elite at an experimental educational complex known as Nova and containing primary and secondary schools and a junior college. They were generally loners and were quite willing to discuss the things that led them to experiment with crime. It appealed to our sensationalism: we needed recognition.

1,500 State Fenians in 'Action'

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 8 1966

In all about 1,500 Fenians have left Wisconsin for Canada, none are from Appleton. The (New York) Tribune's special dated June 6 1966, says that 2,000 men already are concentrated along the line of the Detroit and St. Clair rivers.

Thou and more are gathering at the border and an early advance is expected, mainly Generals Spear and Murphy are in command of two Fenian expeditions to leave Malone, N.Y. between Po dam and Lake Champlain and another force under whose command is not stated from Fairfax, N.Y.

The value of Fenian munitions taken at Richville is estimated at $200,000, composed of Spencer rifles, carbines, knapsacks, ammunition and accoutrements.

A guard of troop has been placed upon the station at Potsdam to preserve order. Gen. Meade is concentrating Federal troops by Presidential order and proclamation at Ogdenburg, expecting a fight there.

At Malone, N.Y. on June 6th it was reported that Spear was about ready to cross on the Missisquoi frontier with 2,500 men and two generals' force under whose command assigned missions by the NATO command. And in any alert or emergency they take up prearranged battle stations as ordered by NATO. In De Gaulle's opinion this could possibly involve France in another war should Germany be attacked and without prior approval of the French government.

De Gaulle will allow French troops to remain in Germany but only if they are there strictly as French forces and subject only to direction of the French command.

It is rather obvious that Britain and the U.S. and the other NATO nations would be under great difficulty to approve such an arrangement. In effect the British and American forces would have to assume all of the responsibility for defending Germany since they couldn't count on French support. And West Germany is as anxious to maintain its relations with Britain and the U.S. as it is with France, possibly more so.

In fact Erhard has told De Gaulle that he cannot make any unilateral decisions on this question that France will have to work out its future role in Germany with NATO.

There is growing evidence in Europe that France's partners in NATO and in the Common Market are becoming more and more willing to let De Gaulle go it alone. But where France is going no one including De Gaulle seems to be able to predict very clearly.

'we began to almost adopt a platform as to why we did things. We were getting more kicks out of talking about our exploits than actually doing them.

The development of such young people, lacking some moral balance, probably has a number of causes. One hint can be found in that the mothers of three of the boys disposed of some of the stolen articles for fear their sons would be apprehended. But there is something deeper here than merely a permissive upbringing or a progressive education. These boys were brilliant enough to see not merely that some law enforcement officials were stupid or dishonest, but that there was a general adult contempt for strict moral principles. When there is cynicism in community affairs, charges of opportunism and plain graft and greed in local, state and federal government agencies, even advantages in knowing the right people in organizations for the betterment of youth itself, presenting the right examples to smart and somewhat sophisticated youngsters is a difficult job.

Psychologically there may be another reason for the fantasies these boys dreamed up and then put into some sort of reality. Children are seldom given the time or opportunity to have faith as a virtue in our practical world with every minute of the waking day planned out for them. It may be that children with extensive imaginations who are denied the opportunity to use them may put them to work in strange ways later in life.

Sen. Lorge Explains His Opposition To Bear Creek School Attachment

Editor Post-Crescent

In commenting on your Sunday, May 29, editorial entitled "The Bear Creek High School Decision," I would like to state that in defining education's hours, teachers and students' sum up all education as the passing on of truth. I would like to correct some of the statement made in your editorial as follows:

As long as I can recall and during my high school days and at the present time, Bear Creek High School does have music and a music teacher. At the CESA public hearing held on May 2nd, Mr. Wallace Wakem, Principal of B. C. Junior-Senior, stated that Bear Creek had 1 Jr. High School Band (Students 7 & 8 or 7 & 9, 2 Concert Bands for students 9 to 12 or 10 to 12, 3 General Music for K to 12, 4 Elementary Chorus K to 6 only and total mixed choirs for Ladies 9 to 12 or 10 to 12. At the start of the school year many schools in Wisconsin including Bear Creek, were short of music teachers for the reason that there was a statewide shortage — the school board had applied for a music teacher and finally was able to fill the vacancy created by the vacancy of the former music teacher. The B. C. school also has a general art and this was indicated by the State Department of Public Instruction in their curriculum analysis.

Ed Lorge, The Post-Crescent, published a map of the Bear Creek public school district. If you did you would find many islands and checkerboard patches indicating that we have three buses, namely buses from New London in Clintonville and Bear Creek going over one district route. Why the islands? For the reason that the county school committee had a policy of letting anyone out of the Bear Creek district that wanted to. Many people desire to go to the district and these people here our present district which includes all of the Village of Bear Creek, parts of the Towns of Deer Creek and Maple Creek in Outagamie County and parts of the Town of Bear Creek and Lebanon in Wauna County. Mr. Bernard Mares, Former Chairman of the Outagamie County School Committee, testified at the CESA meeting May 2nd that the Town of Deer Creek in Outagamie County and the Town of Bear Creek in Waupaca County both holding the Village of Bear Creek were the best agricultural townships in their respective counties. We submit that if and Miss Nathan Spector was presented with the Cub Scout Webelos award at the Achievement Day picnic at Telulah Park. Other award winners from Pack 53 were William Wiley, Thomas Williams, Bruce Smith, Thomas Blount, Thomas Skyes, Christ Knight, Kurtland West, Kim Wagner, Edward Sager, Harvey Stock, David Pollack, Timothy Arens, John Mumme and Marvin Anklaam.

Also, CESA ignored the voters of the district that Bear Creek, the district that pioneered integration of school districts, were given the territory nearest the Village that we would have one of the finest and most compact school districts in the area with the lowest tax rate and with an excellent educational offering which would give every boy and girl more than the essentials for higher education.

Even if Mr. Carley is elected, of course he will have no right to involvement in such matters as a schoolboy apparently from our form. For he followed his formal news conference declarations with a defensive footnote stating that he had a right as a citizen and a national committeeman for his party to take such position. Of course he has such a right. But it was evident that he was speaking as a vote-seeker and was being rejected by the public people as a candidate for governor.

If Carley was not a plying to state capital office, the chances are strong that he would not have announced as a committeeman of his party, repudiation of the national administration. Speaking as a citizen, he would have caused his day's trouble.

THE HABIT

But Carley is not alone in such depa'ture from discussion of issues relevant to the district. In northwestern Wisconsin a young man who wants a career in Republican politics a few days ago communicated his disappointment.

There is no question that Clintonville has a fine public school system. In addition to this Clintonville is one of Wisconsin's more progressive communities. They have excellent community leadership and Bear Creek and Clintonville could jointly get along and have a fine educational relationship. But the big factor here is that even Clintonville could suffer by becoming too large a district. Presently Clintonville City proper has 29 1/2 million full equalized valuation which I am sure is sufficient guaranteed valuation to give their children an excellent education — under the CESA merger they will be short $17,000,000 in valuation and the State of Wisconsin will have to pick up the tab by matching the operating tax levy equal to that which the new Clintonville-Bear Creek district will levy. Don't you think that it may be very possible that both districts could be benefited by a study of enlarging the Bear Creek district? This may also help Clintonville reduce its taxes without affecting its educational program—we will never know the truth as to the type of district Bear Creek and Clintonville could have unless the word of Kenneth Poppy, CESA coordinator, is listened to and put in to action. The easiest thing to do in any situation is nothing but it takes brains and ability to build and I submit that the CESA committee should consider first of all the education of all the people and the taxpayers of both school district. The order of the CESA committee was made to take effect a year later, why? because no one at this time actually knows the true effect of this merger. The people in Bear Creek are further faced with the fact that steps will be taken to trim the district lines south of the Village and to also take out the 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 grades and transport these school children to Clintonville. If this happens we would only have grades K to 6 in the village and a poor grade school system.

Carley's Vietnamese Pronouncement Aimed At Getting Publicity

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — There is a new technique in Wisconsin politics that might be called the rule of the dramatic irrelevancy.

Politicians who find it difficult to contrive newsworthy things to say about their own roles or their own aspirations to state and local office are wandering off into bypaths that appear to them to be more productive in newspaper space and electoral notice.

Wyngaard

The best current example is the declaration of David Carley, the Democratic gubernatorial aspirant, as it has design for a settlement of the Asia war. In a full-fledged press conference the man who wants to be governor of the state for the next two years talked about a cease-fire in Viet Nam, the negotiation of a final settlement and the means of establishing an independent democratic government in that troubled and distant land.

Even if Mr. Carley is elected, of course he will have no right to involvement in such matters as a schoolboy apparently from our form. For he followed his formal news conference declarations with a defensive footnote stating that he had a right as a citizen and a national committeeman for his party to take such position. ## Buddhist Nun Immolates Self As Protest tral market. Paratroopers and marines kept an orderly crowd of about 300 persons back, and small groups of boys and girls draped the charred remains with a Buddhist flag.

The locale of the self-immolation indicated the act probably had the approval of monks at the pagoda. The Buddhist struggle movement remains strong in United Nations, said after a Saigon, 380 miles northeast of meeting with the president that Ky's troops "wholeheartedly and in full measure" supported the request, adding it showed the South Vietnamese government's earnest desire for a fair, honest and representative vote.

There was no word of any disorders in Hue, the Buddhist stronghold 400 miles northeast of Saigon which Ky's soldiers took control of Thursday without bloodshed.

Buddhist leaders appealed earlier this week for a halt to "self-sacrifice" — they do not use the word suicide. But even after the agreement with the government was announced Wednesday 20 nuns and monks threatened to set themselves aflame on the grounds of the Buddhist Institute.

Junta Difficulties

The military junta meanwhile seemed to be running into difficulties on its request to the United Nations for observers for the Sept. 11 election of a constitutional convention. South Viet Nam's permanent observer at U.N. headquarters in New York made the request of Secretary-General U Thant Thursday.

The proposal got immediate endorsement from President Johnson. Arthur J. Goldberg, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said after a Saigon, 380 miles northeast of meeting with the president that Ky's troops "wholeheartedly and in full measure" supported the request, adding it showed the South Vietnamese government's earnest desire for a fair, honest and representative vote.

At U.N. headquarters, however, the South Vietnamese request was given slight chance of it.

Sen. Green Estate Set at $200,000

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The late U.S. Sen. Theodore Francis Green left an estate in excess of $200,000 and specific bequests of $10,000 each to the Providence Public Library and Brown University.

The Rhode Island School of Design will be permitted to select 10 paintings from his collection of Chinese art. The school also was left two pieces of sculpture.

Brown was left the senator's collection of books on Roman law and civil law. Various charitable bequests were made.

Residual beneficiaries of the estate are five nephews and two nieces. The will was filed in probate court Thursday.

Lucey Declines Co-Speaker Offer At Convention

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey has declined to serve as a co-keynote speaker at the Wisconsin Democratic convention next week.

Lucey said Thursday night that a prior commitment will prevent him from appearing at the opening convention session next Friday night.

He said he will ask to speak instead at Saturday's session. Lucey had been expected to address the convention as keynote with David Carley, Dominic Frinzi and Abe Swed, all candidates for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

The lieutenant governor said he agreed to attend a civic celebration in Prairie du Chien.

Another, aimed almost straight down at the ground, five feet away, depicted gravel-like objects on the apparently hard-packed surface. Some were one-eighth to one-half inch in diameter.

There was nothing unexpected, Luna 9 televised much the same kind of pictures.

What pleased U. S. scientists was that Surveyor 1 had proved for the first time that the lunar surface, at least in the landing area, would support the much heavier Apollo craft.

They said Surveyor's 12-inch diameter padded feet exerted as much pressure per square inch on the lunar surface as would the much wider feet of the heavier Apollo.

ment of Resource Development. Tentative agreement was reached on how to help municipalities finance construction of sewage treatment facilities.

No formal vote was taken. A loan program, financed through bonding and effective May 1, 1967, would be provided only to localities unable to raise funds through other means.

The Senate originally called for a bonding program open to all communities. The Assembly substituted for this plan a $10 million annual fund to provide outright grants.

Another Issue

In another issue before the Legislature, the Assembly was forced to compromise on an amendment supported by the 25-member Milwaukee County delegation to pass the accelerated highway construction bill.

Milwaukee assemblymen claimed they had the votes to stymie final passage of the bill until their amendment was approved.

The change would require the state to pay the full 10 per cent non-federal share of Milwaukee County interstate projects as it already does in other Wisconsin counties.

The adoption of the amendment came after the defeat of attempts to set specific annual limits of $2 million and $2.5 million in payment to the county.

The provision finally approved set no maximum. Estimates of the total the state may have to pay range from $8 million to $12 million over a period of eight years.

Boost Gasoline Tax

The bill as sent to the Senate would increase the gasoline tax from six to seven cents a gallon. It would bring in $15 million annually, to be used for acceleration of state trunk priority projects.

Originally the proposal would have allowed the state to borrow immediately funds to complete the interstate system from Tomah to Eau Claire and from Tomah to La Crosse. It would also have provided a bridge at Hudson.

An amendment adopted would delay the authorization date of issuing bonds until May 1, 1967. This would prevent any speed-up of interstate construction through borrowing until that time.

Tax Relief

Steps were taken to set up a conference committee to resolve differences on a measure granting additional property tax relief for the elderly.

The Senate approved the proposal with a $1.5 million cost, and the Assembly raised the total to $1.1 million.

The tax relief program, established in 1963, already has $2.5 million appropriated for it during the coming fiscal year.

The Assembly adopted and sent to the Senate a measure that would consolidate the 9 flight plan were packed with important, action-filled tests. The plan was to be altered in flight, depending on whether or not the satellite remained locked in its shroud.

Intent, Ready

Still patiently optimistic despite past disappointments, Stafford, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and Cernan, a Navy lieutenant commander, were reported "intent and ready" as they rode back today to Pad 19.

Twice before, the astronauts had sweated out the countdown, then dejectedly rode the slow elevator back to the ground when the mission was scrubbed.

As they entered the elevator today, they grinned broadly when they read this sign on the door:

"Tom and Gene: Notice, the down capability for this elevator has been removed. Let's have a good flight." It was signed, "The spacecraft crew."

On Schedule

As the new countdown moved along smoothly on schedule, the target satellite with which they will rendezvous in the skies was whirling around toward the Cape in its 29th orbit of the earth. It was launched Wednesday.

The corporations issue bonds used to finance construction of state building projects.

The bill would limit the corporation's borrowing capacity on other than self-amortizing buildings to 200 per cent of the state's share of tax revenues.

Assembly Bills

The Senate concurred in two Assembly bills and sent them to the governor. One would require a $3 additional charge for issuing special number license plates to car owners. The State Motor Vehicle Department now provides the service without any extra cost.

The second bill would require stocks insurance companies to have a surplus of 50 per cent capital stocks before being licensed. The amount now is 37 per cent.

Crackdown on Trouble

Victory by Balaguer Pleases U. S. Officials

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — An avalanche of votes from a people weary of revolutionary violence carried Joaquin Balaguer to victory in the Dominican presidential race Thursday night. Indications were that the little island nation could expect a tough crackdown on any extremist attempt to make trouble.

The vote, hailed as fair and clean by scores of official foreign observers, was a crushing setback for the moderate left and a stinging repudiation for pro-Communist and pro-Castro elements.

U. S. Delighted
U.S. officials from President Johnson down were delighted that the election had been peaceful. There was also relief in Washington that the victor was Balaguer, a reform-minded conservative, rather than leftist Juan Bosch.

Officials in Washington made clear that the United States is prepared to continue development and emergency financial aid to help the Dominican Republic recover from its civil war.

Last year, plans also are being made to withdraw the 8,000-man inter-American peace force as soon as Balaguer and incumbent provisional president, Hector Garcia-Godoy, want it to leave, perhaps before Balaguer's inauguration on July 1.

day before the Gemini shot was washed out by communications failures.

"We sure hope they make it today," said astronaut Donald K. Slayton as Stafford and Cernan donned spacesuits for the flight. "It's been a struggle."

When the astronauts climbed out of the elevator to enter the spacecraft, they found a poem attached to it and signed by their backup crew, James A. Lovell Jr. and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr.

It read:
"We were kidding before.
"But not any more.
"Get yourselves into space.
"Or we'll take your place."

In their ride to Pad 19, Stafford and Cernan carried a large, mock match, saying it was to help them get off the ground. Stafford looked at Slayton and said, "Let's go do it."

Conditions Good

Weather conditions were good at the Cape and around the world all tracking stations were ready to follow the most ambitious flight yet attempted in the U.S. man-to-the-moon program.

The astronauts were awakened shortly after 5 a.m., ate a big breakfast and took brief final physical examinations.

'Big Time' Adds Up to Some Luck, Plus Work

BY ALAN POSNIAK

Does a rock group go about making its big time? Well, with a recording studio and just recently opening in Appleton, it should be interesting to investigate these questions, and to find out how a band tries to make "big time."

Hitting it big is the uppermost hope in the life of any band, and as has been mentioned the only means to this end is through a recording. However, getting a hit is easier said than done. There are about 1,000 records released weekly, and the total keeps growing continuously.

Trying for a hit is somewhat like running an obstacle course blindfolded. You know the pitfalls are there, but you don't know where until you are in them — it seems a guy could get hurt. Run the course you must — the rewards for those who succeed are very gratifying.

Big Decisions

Once a group decides to record, its troubles are just starting. They have taken the first step onto the path of the "big time," but rather what is decide upon what songs to record. You may think that this is a small problem, but, faithful friends, this is the most important decision to be made.

There are three alternatives open to bandmen. Write their own material, the most profitable should the record be a hit, arrange and practice, practice have someone else write the material, or re-record some old songs.

If the group writes its own material, it must be copyrighted, to protect its interest. If old material is used, permission must come from the publisher. In most cases this is easy to do, but sometimes one runs into a publisher who doesn't like money.

After the group decides (sometimes bloody battles ensue) which songs to make in a hit, arrange and practice, practice have someone else write the material, or re-record some old songs.
